Toll collection through FASTag in Dec up ₹200 cr

Toll collection in December 2020 through FASTags reached ₹2,303.79 crore in December 2020, recording an increase of ₹201 crore over the preceding month, the NHAI said on Tuesday. Similarly, toll transactions through FASTags recorded significant growth of 1.35 crore in December 2020. The increased revenue comes after the government announced mandatory rollout of FASTag from January 1, 2021, though it has allowed hybrid lanes on National Highways till February 15 to avoid inconvenience to people.

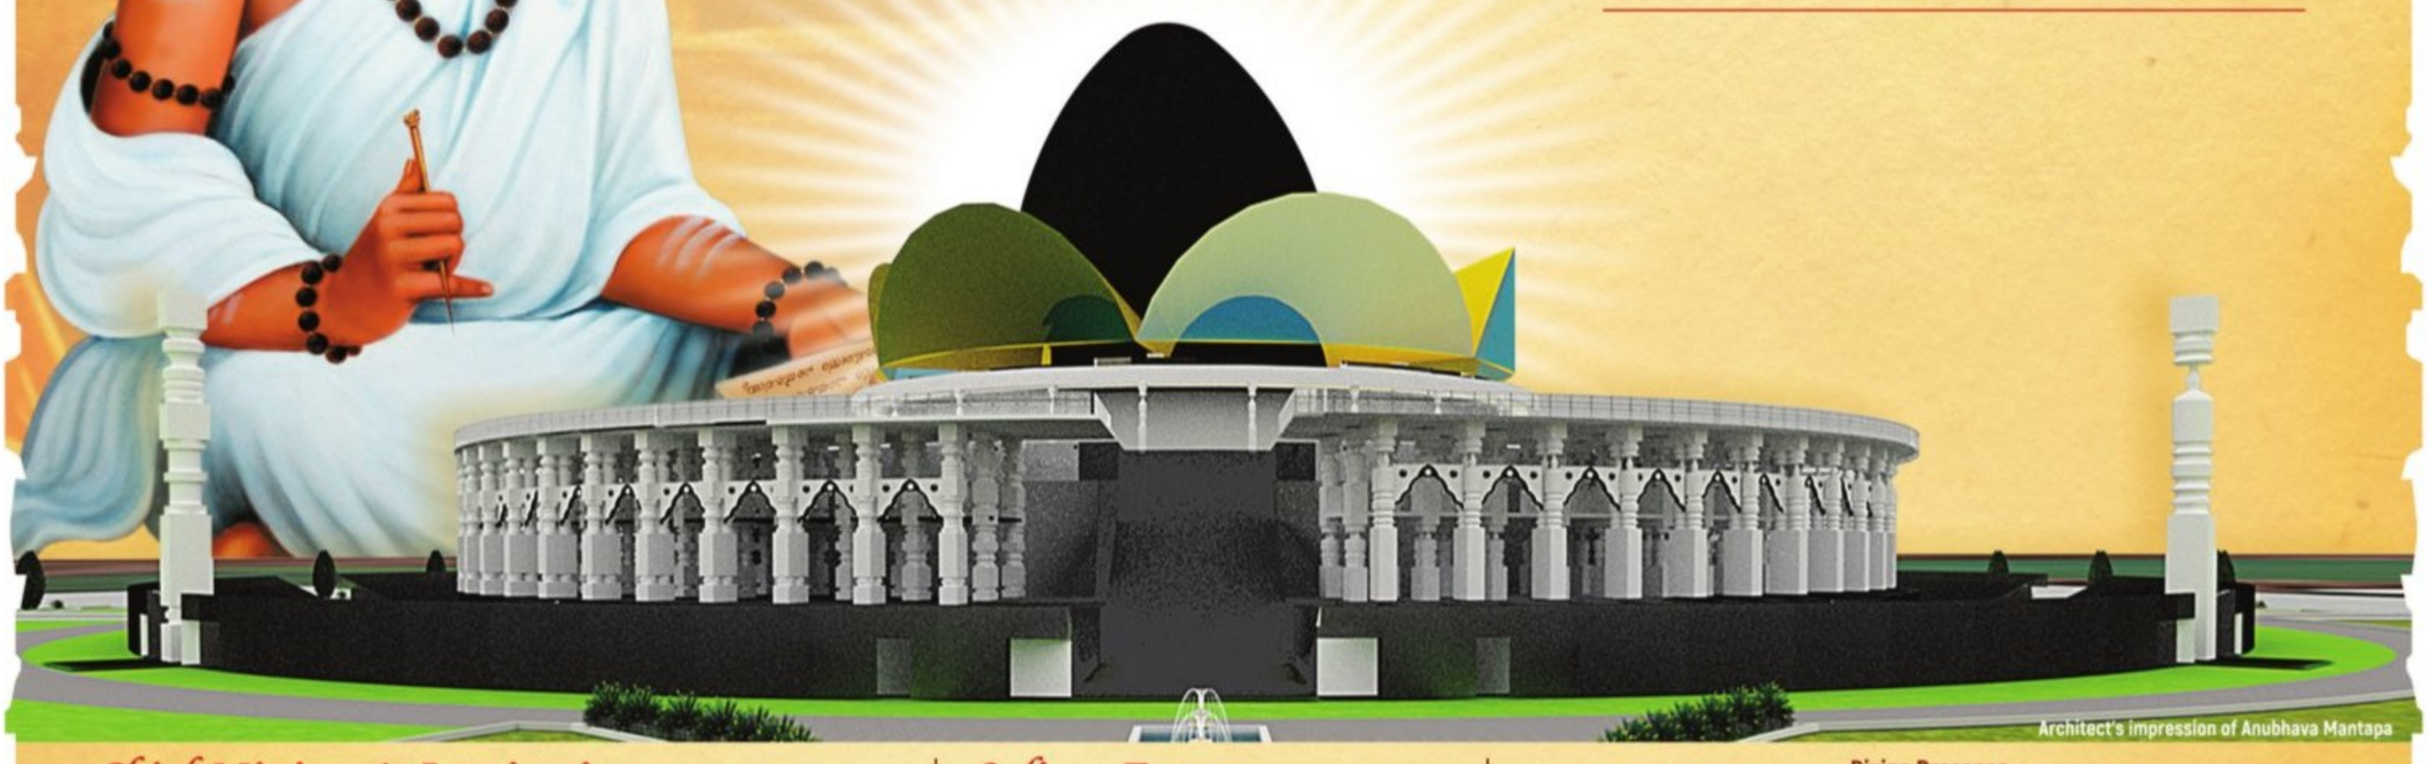
"Every generation of India needs to know why democracy remains strong in India. While people talk of the Magna Carta, even before that in the 12th Century Lord Basaveshwara had set up the Anubhava Mantapam.

Basaveshwara had said that the Anubhava Mantapam was set up to get people and rulers to unite in working for prosperity of the land."

- Sri Narendra Modi
Honourable Prime Minister



Architect's impression of Anubhava Mantapa

Chief Minister's Inspiration

Social reformer Saint Basavanna propagated values of equality, human values and morality way back in the 12th Century. He preached and practiced simplicity, non violence and integrity at work. He advocated tolerance and acceptance of all religions. He established Anubhava Mantapa for implementation of steps towards social progress, and to serve as a platform for revolutionary ideas that would lead to a new progressive social order. Anubhava Mantapa was one of the earliest examples of a people's legislative forum.

Inspired and guided by the works of this social leader and reformist, Honourable Chief Minister Sri B.S. Yediyurappa has conceptualised and taken initiative to undertake this monumental project of recreating the historic Anubhava Mantapa that would lead to comprehensive development of the Birth Place of Sri Basavanna and also Bidar District. This Rs.500 crore project would showcase to the entire world the divine teachings of the reformist saint and help in resurgence of the values of Sri Basavanna.

The Cabinet Committee on Parliamentary Affairs on Tuesday recommended convening of the Budget session from Jan 29

SECOND HALF LIKELY FROM MARCH 8 TO APRIL 8

The first part of the Budget session will run till February 15. Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman will present the Budget in the Lok Sabha on February 1, as usual. The second half of the Budget session will commence after a recess and be held from March 8 till April 8. The Economic Survey will be presented in both Houses of Parliament on January 31

OPPOSITION LIKELY TO RAISE FARM LAWS

- The Opposition is likely to put pressure on govt over farm laws
- The govt had earlier decided against convening the winter session of Parliament citing the pandemic, for which it drew flak
- The monsoon session of Parliament, too, had been adjourned prematurely after many MPs tested positive for Covid-19 | P11

Minutes show panel's Covaxin somersault

It wasn't satisfied with phase 1, 2 results in first two meets; changed mind in the third

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @New Delhi

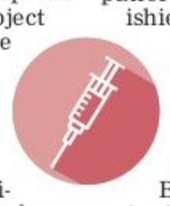
A bare reading of the minutes of the three meetings the drug regulator's expert panel held over the past week to consider accelerated licenses to coronavirus vaccines, indicates what was suspected all along — that the committee perhaps changed its mind on Covaxin overnight due to government pressure to clear a homegrown jab.

After three meetings spread over four days, the subject expert committee of the Central Drugs Standards Control Organisation on Covid-19 recommended restricted emergency use for Covishield by Serum Institute of India and Covaxin by Bharat Biotech-ICMR.

The approval to Covaxin, whose phase 3 trial on about 26,000 volunteers is still underway, however, led to a massive outcry in the scientific community as its efficacy is yet to be established.

The minutes of the SEC's meetings on December 30 and January 1 show it was not satisfied with Covaxin's phase 1 and 2 trial data alone, but changed its mind on January 2. December 30's minutes say that "after detailed deliberation, the committee recommended that the firm should update and present immunogenicity, safety and efficacy data for further consideration."

On January 1, it recommended that Bharat Biotech expedite the recruitment of volunteers and perform interim efficacy analysis for further consideration. In the same meeting, the panel recommended Covishield's approval.



However, the very next day when an unscheduled meeting was held purportedly under pressure to clear the indigenous vaccine, Bharat Biotech presented further data and notably "requested for consideration of their proposal in the wake of incidence of new mutated coronavirus infection".

Introducing the protection angle against the infectious UK virus strain perhaps gave the SEC legroom for its somersault. The minutes show the committee echoed Bharat Biotech, as it observed that Covaxin has the "potential to target mutated coronavirus strains".

6.3L health workers to get first jab in mid-Jan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A total of 6,30,524 health care workers have been identified for the first phase of vaccination in Karnataka and the State Government is fully prepared for the vaccine rollout from mid-January, Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar indicated.

Amongst the 6,30,524 health care workers, 2,73,211 are government employees while 3,57,313 are from the private sector. "The process of delivery of the coronavirus vaccine in India is about to begin soon and the state government is ready to streamline the vaccine delivery," Dr Sudhakar tweeted.

The state has 9,807 experienced vaccinators and 28,427 identified vaccine centres. "More centres will be identified. All the data of the vaccinators and vaccine kits is uploaded on the CoWIN software prepared by the central government," said Dr Sudhakar.

He also tweeted, "The central government is supplying much of the infrastructure required by the state and so far, 64 large ice-lined refrigerators (IRL) and 24 lakh syringes have been delivered to the state. Additional equipment, including remaining 31 lakh syringed will soon arrive."

In the BBMP limits, there are 1,68,000 beneficiaries with 1,600 vaccinators and 1,512 vaccination sites, including 200 cold chains. According to the health department data, out of a total of 28,932 cold chain points in the country under Universal Immunization programme, Karnataka has 2,870 cold chain points (nearly 10 pc).

Every district in Karnataka and the BBMP have sufficient ice-lined refrigerators and deep freezers to store vaccines at the district level. P5

'Blue economy' will give boost to coastal states: PM

VINCENT D'SOUZA
@ Mangaluru

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday said a comprehensive plan for the development of a 'Blue Economy' in the coastal states like Karnataka, Kerala and other South Indian states is being implemented.

"The Blue Economy is going to be an important source of 'Aatamnirbhar Bharat'. Ports and coastal roads are being connected with a focus on multi-modal connectivity. We are working with an aim to turn our coastal region into a role model for ease of living and ease of doing business," he stressed.

The PM, who virtually dedicated the much-awaited Kochi-Mangaluru natural gas pipeline to the nation, said it is expected to have a greater socio-economic and environmental impact in the coastal regions in Karnataka and Kerala. The 450-km-long pipeline, laid at a cost of ₹3,000 crore, is an important milestone towards the creation of 'One Nation One Gas Grid'. The project will have a positive impact on the economic growth of these two states, he added.

Listing out the advantages, he said the project will improve ease of living, lay the foundation for CNG-based transport and reduce pollution, thereby improving health and reducing expenditure on health. It will also attract tourists, develop a new ecosystem of employment and self-employment, save thousands of crores of foreign exchange for the country among others, he pointed out.

Emphasising on the need for expansion of the gas network, the PM said the government plans to achieve 'One Nation One Gas Grid' and to shift to a gas-based economy as it has several environmental benefits. Policy initiatives are being taken to increase the share of natural gas in India's energy basket from 6 per cent to 15 per cent, he noted.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Union health ministry on Tuesday said the government is prepared to roll out vaccines against Covid-19 within 10 days of granting emergency use authorisation. Since regulatory approval came on January 3, the first jabs could be administered by January 13.

"The government is ready to introduce Covid-19 vaccine within 10 days from date of emergency use authorisation," said Rajesh Bhushan, Health Secretary.

Describing the vaccine delivery management plan using the specially designed CoWin platform, he said healthcare and frontline workers need not register themselves on it as beneficiaries, as their data has been pre-populated on the portal.

"There are four primary vaccine stores called GMSD in Karnal, Mumbai, Chennai and Kolkata and 37 vaccine stores. They store vaccines in bulk and distribute them further," he said.

Automated session allocation, SMS in 12 languages, 24x7 helpline, chat box with pattern recognition to help navigate the portal, digital locker for integrated data retrieval are some of the features of CoWIN.

Farmers gear up for R-Day faceoff, plan 'rehearsal' on Thursday

HC junks BSY plea to quash land case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IN yet another setback to Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa, the Karnataka High Court on Tuesday dismissed his petition questioning the case registered by the Lokayukta police and subsequent proceedings pending before the Special Court in connection with illegal denotification of land at an upscale area in Bengaluru city.

Justice John Michael Cunha, who pronounced the judgment from the Kalaburagi Bench of High Court, dismissed Yediyurappa's petition challenging the probe into the alleged illegal denotification of land at Mathadahalli.

Sources said after the HC dismissed the petition, the CM held a meeting with his advocates to discuss the future course of action. "They are looking into the court order and will decide about the next course of action after consulting legal experts," sources close to the CM said.

This comes as the second major setback to Yediyurappa in just a fortnight. Only on December 22, 2020, the High Court had rejected a plea filed by Yediyurappa seeking to quash the proceedings pending before the Lokayukta Court based on a private complaint for allegedly denotifying several acres of land acquired for I-T projects in Whitefield area when he was Deputy Chief Minister in 2006-07. P6

Project to develop Central Vista gets 2:1 SC green light

KANU SARDA @ New Delhi

A Supreme Court bench on Tuesday greenlighted the mega Central Vista project by 2:1 majority, saying there were no infirmities in clearances granted to it.

Justice A M Khanwilkar, writing for himself and Justice Dinesh Maheswari, however, said authorities executing the project will have to get clearance from the Heritage Conservation Committee, rejecting the Centre's stand that the approval was to be taken subsequently.

The two judges found the process to change the land use at the project site legal and valid. They also found all notifications issued for the project as also the approval granted by the environmental committee valid.

The majority verdict directed the Union ministry of environment to set up smog towers as an integral part of the Central Vista project and ordered use of environment-friendly construction material. On the award of contract to a Gujarat-based firm, the court held it was just and proper.

While agreeing with the other two judges on "the aspects of Notice inviting Bid, award of consultancy and the order of the Urban Arts Commission," Justice Sanjiv Khanna in his dissenting verdict faulted the Centre for not following due procedure. "There is no intelligible disclosure of public participation and no prior approval of Heritage Conservation Committee," Justice Khanna said.

"I have sent the issue to Heritage Conservation Committee. We have not gone into the merits of matter," he said, adding prior approval of the Heritage Conservation Committee was necessary for such projects.

The government had defended the project, arguing that the current British-era Parliament House, opened in 1927, had less space, no fire safety norms or earthquake proofing. It had also contended that all Central ministries need to be bunched together in one place to improve efficiency. P11

1. Adequate notice not given to stakeholders of the development plan
2. Tender notices do not suggest the project envisaged extensive change, though it was for complete redevelopment of Central Vista
3. Fatal flaw in following procedure; Centre did not apply its mind to inputs from the public
4. Lack of reasonable time prevented those who had filed objections and given suggestions to appear orally and state their point of view
5. Premeditated effort to ensure approval without the presence and participation of representatives of professional bodies
6. No approval from Heritage Conservation Committee
7. Environmental clearance for the project mechanical, invalid

Attendance in classes goes up

Number of students steadily rising since January 1, when schools reopened

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

Even as 20 teachers across the state tested positive, attendance continues to grow among Class 10,12 and Vidyagama students. On Tuesday, of the 4,24,250 students enrolled in 5,492 PU colleges in the state, as many as 2,42,886 (57.25 per cent) were present.

And out of 9,29,130 enrolled in Class 10 in 16,850 high schools in the state board in Karnataka, as many as 4,77,051, (51.34 per cent) were present.

Announcing the statistics of the education department, Minister for Primary and Secondary Education S Suresh Kumar said that Vidyagama too saw an attendance of 6,30,557 students. This was more than the 4 lakh odd students that were present on Monday.

Meanwhile, at least 20 teachers tested positive. However, the minister said that students were not in contact with those teachers and that classes including Vidyagama were being held scientifically in a safe manner, hence seeing increased attendance.

In Bagalkot, five teachers tested positive. But they got their test results before the school reopened, and have been in quarantine, he said.

Other positive cases among teachers include one in Bijapur district and has been under home quarantine, four in Hukkeri who are under home quarantine, one in Vadaganahalli primary school in Koppal district. These schools have been sanitised, the minister said.

He said that the teachers in Koodli school in Belagavi got tested and the results were yet to arrive. The Rapid antigen test was negative. The teachers will remain at home till the final report is out, Kumar said, assuring that none of the teachers came in contact with students.

On Tuesday, Ganesh Hukkeri, MLA, visited various schools in Hukkeri taluk and assured them to give them masks and sanitizers.

Cut fees by 20-25%, Assn tells pvt schools

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Associated Management of Primary and Secondary Schools in Karnataka has advised its members to strictly follow Covid SOPs issued by the government, which include not charging parents the full year fee in one go.

Instead, the association asked schools to reduce the overall fees and has suggested fees for special development, term fees, extra curricular activities and computer usage fees.

The association has suggested that special development fees can be waived if the overall annual fee is less than Rs 25,000. Term fees should be 10% of the whole tuition fee, and can be considered by schools whose annual fee is less than Rs 15,000.

Fee for extra curricular activities, if any, for activities such as sports, cultural coaching, swimming, horse riding, etc, could also be waived, the association advised members.

Schools should consider lowering minimum charges for computer usage by 30% while transportation maintenance apart from the running costs can be considered yearly overall expenditure and be divided among students, the association said.

If the overall annual fees is more than Rs 25,000, the fee could be reduced by 20-25% in the best interest of the students and parents during the COVID situation, it added.

This comes after the Karnataka Private Unaided Schools Parents Association's coordination committee had written to Minister for Primary and Secondary Education Suresh Kumar on January 1, requesting that only 25% of the tuition fee be collected for the year 2020-21, commensurate with actual salary expenditure.

Parents also demanded the National Commission on the Protection of Child Rights Model Framework be followed for fee regulation of unaided private schools.

They also demanded the appointment of a fee fixation committee such as the one in Chennai to approve or fix fees in private unaided schools from the academic years 2021-22 onwards.

MSME, SME weavers yet to get subsidised electricity

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

IN a case of lack of coordination between government departments, the MSME and SME weavers are yet to get electricity at subsidised rates.

While officials in Bangalore Electricity Supply Corporation Limited (Bescom) said that they are yet to get the reimbursements from the Department of Handloom and Textiles, the latter said government orders have already been initiated on offering subsidies.

The Department of Handlooms and Textiles had initiated a scheme under which weavers are given a power subsidy to encourage MSMEs and SMEs in the handloom and power loom sectors. Under the scheme, weavers are charged a subsidised rate by Bescom on the power consumed in operating the handlooms or powerlooms and BESCOM, in turn, is reimbursed by the Department of Handlooms and Textiles.

Laxminarayana, Member of Weavers Colony Association in Gottigere, said: "We had applied for power subsidy in April 2020. However, our application has still not yet been processed and we do not have any information on the its status or when we will start receiving our subsidy. It has been difficult to manage work during the lockdown and issues like this make it further difficult for us to operate. If things continue like this, we might be forced to shut down our units."

Subbu Hegde, treasurer of Bengaluru Navanirmana Party (BNP) and resident of Gottigere, said: "We understand that there are almost 175 applications that have been filed by various units and all of these are still pending. It is a clear travesty of our system that people genuinely in need and are entitled to their rights, are being denied the same due to inefficiency and lack of coordination among government departments."

Bescom officials said that they will look into the matter.

BCU Syndicate forms one-man panel to probe irregularities

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru City University has constituted a one-man committee to probe irregularities in awarding contracts for the procurement of 'exam management software' through an e-tender process at the university.

The committee will be headed by Justice P G M Patil, a retired Karnataka High Court judge. The roles of former vice-chancellor, former registrar and finance officer, chairman and members of finance committee and central procurement committee will be probed.

The inquiry will check if the Karnataka Transparency in Public Procurement Act 1999, norms of Karnataka Financial Code 1958 and abuse of powers under KSU act 2000 were violated by the officers of BCU.

The inquiry, which started on December 28, will be held for 60 days. Syndicate members Dr H T Aravind and Jyoti Vijay have alleged that a minimum of 60 days of notice should have been set aside prior to floating the tender, however only a 10-day notice was given. In the 5-year MoU, the university has not implicated the total financial obligations, except for stating Rs 110 per student per semester examination while the tender amount mentions Rs 1.25 crore referring to the number of students enrolled to BCU's examination during 2018-19.₹

All consultancy services crossing Rs 10 lakh need to be executed as per the K/C-41 Standard tender document, which was not the case in the tender. When there is just one financial bidder, it is mandatory for the university to call for another bid, which was not done, they pointed out

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

06th January: Some people still believe that space is empty. This, of course, is nonsense. If you were to travel from here to the Moon, you'd be passing through an incredible soup of sub-atomic particles. You could even hitch a ride on the solar wind, the energy which the sun sends out in huge waves. At least, that's what we're seriously hoping to be able to do in a few decades' time.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Today's stars continue yesterday's most important trends, including a tendency to bury your head in the sand. I doubt if you'll succeed, though! Your advantage is that in any situation you can look beyond the immediate consequences towards the next stage.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The professional situation is still quite clear, and this is an excellent moment for all ambitious types to both aim for promotion and to encourage very close relatives to do the same. Social prospects veer towards the unusual, by the way, so you should be prepared for a few surprises over the coming days.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You should try to discover why colleagues or associates want to opt out of agreements and commitments. It may be that they instinctively know better than you what the real situation is. A financial question should be answered by the end of the week.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You really should devote a little more attention to sorting out relationships at work. Ideally, you should be operating as part of a team, co-operating with colleagues almost as if they're part of your family. Hopefully you won't argue like you have done with nearest and dearest!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Partners seem to hold the advantage, but that shouldn't be any bar to you enjoying yourself. In fact, the best fun you can have is by following other people's lead and joining in with whatever they suggest. You might actually find that you enjoy something that you'd always avoided.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Do listen carefully to what partners are saying, and if you're at all telepathic, try and work out what they're thinking as well! On the other hand, before you act on what you hear, you'd better make sure you're correct! Keep an eye open for the occasional disagreement later on, when people around you get tired and touchy.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Several factors seem to be making it easier for you to make up your mind. One could be increased support from family members. It's probably most useful to ask for moral support, rather than practical assistance. That way, you preserve the freedom to act as you wish.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Cost seems to be the major factor, and romantic plans may be inhibited by what you can and can't afford. This could be a good time to take a gamble, in which case emotional risks are as likely as financial. Remember that old saying - 'never fight a battle you can't win'!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The financial situation should now have eased, but only temporarily. Use all and any new-found confidence to get yourself on a new and much more profitable path. What's more, you may put your foot down at home. On the other hand, there's no guarantee that partners will obey!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You may keep all significant secrets to yourself for a little while longer, but you should have your story ready just in case someone else spills the beans. Your romantic hopes might just involve you in additional cost, so you should be prepared to shell out.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
There have been delays, but no matter what area of your life has temporarily stalled, you can bring in other people to help out. With the right tone of voice, you can even get them to do your dirty work for you, which is no mean feat! You might have to return the favour, later.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
This is the time to press ahead with supreme confidence. The very last thing you should do now is give other people any excuse to overlook you. Always make sure that you are in the right place at the right time, otherwise a fleeting opportunity might pass you by.

K'taka had 7 lineages of SARS-Cov-2 until May

Study provides proof for multiple introductions of virus into state

IFFATH FATHIMA, RANJANI MADHAVAN @Bengaluru

A health worker collects samples at Majestic bus stand on Tuesday I SHRIRAM BN

A study that traced the spread of Covid-19 in Karnataka between March 8 and May 21 found 91 genomes of SARS-CoV-2 clustered into seven lineages.

A paper, 'Genomic epidemiology reveals multiple introductions and spread of SARS-CoV-2 in the Indian state of Karnataka', used a combination of contact tracing and genomic epidemiology to trace the spread of the disease in the state and found that the lineages identified here are known to have originated in China, South East Asia, Iran, Europe and other parts of India, and brought into the state either by international or domestic travel. Between March 5 and May 21, the state had 1,578 cases.

"The data from this study provides evidence for multiple introductions of the virus into the state with sustained local transmission. Our sequences grouped into 17 contact clusters and 24 cases with no known contacts. This is the first study from India combining genomic data with epidemiological information emphasising the need for an integrated approach to outbreak response," an excerpt read.

Dr Prakash Kumar, joint director for communicable diseases at Health and Family Welfare Department and one of the authors of the paper, said the study indicated cluster transmission and is helpful from an epidemiological perspective in planning prevention strategies through quarantine and physical distancing. "The study shows that the virus is still spreading through contact, resulting in clusters. Preventing clusters is the way to prevent the spread of a pandemic," he said.

The study found the contact clusters to be in Mysuru, Belagavi, Bengaluru Urban, Mandya, Kalaburagi, Vijayapura, Bidar, Bagalkot, Uttara Kannada, Davanagere and other places.

"Within the study period, there was an early ban of international passenger travel. Our data suggests that the tracing and containing of these cases was effective. A nationwide closure of air and rail routes followed. This, however, seems to have been incompletely effective in preventing importation of cases due to domestic travel. In spite of nationwide lockdowns and quarantining of migrant workers, cases continued to be imported into Karnataka... These observations are consistent with widespread circulation of the virus in some states of the country. They emphasise the need for screening and quarantining of travellers as restrictions are relaxed, in addition to the follow up of ongoing transmission in the state," the study said.

Epidemiologist and member of the state's Technical Expert Committee Dr Giridhar R Babu, welcomed the study, but said, "It gives the genetic sequencing of the infection up to May. After this, we are not aware of how the genetic sequencing of the virus has changed, or if it has changed at all, as no studies were done. The government is planning to conduct another study."

HEALTH Minister Dr K Sudhakar on Tuesday came out in support of Bharat Biotech and urged people to refrain from "unwarranted criticism which discredits the hard work of our scientists".

In a series of tweets, the minister supported the pharma company, which has been at the centre of a controversy after the Subject Expert Committee approved its Covaxin for emergency use even as Phase 3 trials that test the vaccine's efficacy are still underway.

"Being one of the largest exporters of vaccines, the world is looking up to us in the common fight against this global pandemic. Bharat Biotech is a reputed company which has the credibility and experience of developing 16 vaccines including for influenza H1N1, Rotavirus, Japanese Encephalitis, Rabies, Chikungunya, Zika and the world's first tetanus-toxoid conjugated vaccine for Typhoid," Dr Sudhakar tweeted.

He said Bharat Biotech's founder-chairman Dr Krishna Ella is a passionate professional with a credibility of delivering over 4 billion vaccine doses to underprivileged people in more than 150 developing countries through UNICEF and other channels.

"Covaxin's phase-3 clinical trial involves 24,000 volunteers & its data will be available soon. I humbly appeal to everyone, not as a Health Minister but as a fellow medical professional, to refrain from unwarranted criticism which discredits the hard work of our scientists," he tweeted, adding that India is at the forefront of scientific innovation to combat the pandemic.

Meanwhile, Sudhakar said that one more person in Karnataka has tested positive for the UK strain of SARS-CoV-2, taking the total number to 11. However, 121 people are still untraceable.

State has cold chain infra for vaccine

THE state has two state vaccine stores (SVS) at Bengaluru and Belagavi and five Regional Vaccine Stores (RVS) at Chitradurga, Mysuru, Mangaluru, Kalaburagi and Bagalkot with walk-in coolers and walk-in freezers equipped to store large quantities of vaccine at regional levels and distribute further to districts.

The 2,855 cold chain points located at district and taluk hospitals, medical colleges, CHCs, PHCs and UPHCs are equipped with 3776 ice-lined refrigerators and 3,495 deep freezers in total. This is sufficient to store all the childhood vaccines under UIP, OPV vaccine being received for Pulse Polio campaign in January 2021 and to store Covid-19 vaccines as well, when received from the Union Government. Also, all the districts have insulated vaccine vans dedicated to supply it to all the health facilities in the districts up to PHC levels.

This apart, Electronic Vaccine Intelligence network (eVIN) is in place at all the cold chain points in the state where vaccine stocks can be monitored in real time and also temperature loggers are installed to ensure vaccines are safely stored at the right temperature at all times.

Why were tests not done on 700 UK returnees: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

IN THE HC

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday sought an explanation from the State Government for not conducting RT-PCR tests on more than 700 passengers who returned from the UK.

Hearing Covid-related PILs, a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Aravind Kumar passed the order asking the government to explain the discrepancy in numbers after it noticed that over 700 UK returnees have not been subjected to RT-PCR tests.

The State Government submitted to the high court that from December 7, 2020, 3,137 people had returned from the UK to India.

Nine of passengers and one primary contact of one of the passengers tested positive for the UK strain.

Of the 3,137 passengers, 3,062 have been traced and 75 are yet to be found. However, RT-PCR tests were conducted on 2,292 passengers.

Of them, test results of 176 passengers are awaited, while 34 passengers and 14 of their primary contacts tested positive.

Bypoll: Vijayendra, Dharam's son to contest?

Basavakalayana prestige seat for both BJP, Congress; Yediyurappa visiting constituency today

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

THE bypoll to the Basavakalayana Assembly constituency in Bidar promises to be an intense, all-out fight between the BJP, which has been winning the by-elections with ease in the recent past, and the Congress, which was holding the seat.

There is such gravity attached to this seat that Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa's son B Y Vijayendra and former chief minister Dharam Singh's son Vijay Singh are being touted as the likely candidates from the BJP and Congress.

The bypoll has been necessitated by the death of MLA Narayan Rao in September 2020.

The saffron party started poll preparations here soon after Sira and RR Nagar Assembly bypolls. Vijayendra, who is the BJP state vicae-president and one of the key architects of bypoll victories, visited Basavakalyana in November 2020 and has been touring the constituency regularly.

Though both Yediyurappa and Vijayendra have denied in public that Vijayendra could be the candidate, party insiders say that the CM is indeed keen on getting his son the ticket.

B Y Vijayendra

Vijay Singh

With an eye on the bypoll, the chief minister last year announced the Maratha Development Board and allocated Rs 50 crore to it. The obvious target is the Maratha community, which has a considerable population in the constituency. Not just the Marathas, the BJP government is also trying to woo the Lingayat voters by calling for a detailed project report for the construction of Anubhava Mantapa in Basavakalyana, 15 months after the nod was given. The chief minister is visiting Basavakalyana on Wednesday for the foundation laying ceremony.

"In 2018, Vijayendra's name was doing the rounds to contest from the Varuna Assembly constituency, but later it was dropped. However, in the last one-and-a-half years, Vijayendra is being projected as the mastermind behind victories at KR Pete in Mandya and Sira in Tumakuru bypolls. Local BJP leaders too want Vijayendra to contest from the constituency," said a BJP leader, on condition of anonymity.

The Congress is hunting for a suitable candidate who can retain the seat. The names of late Narayan Rao's wife and Vijay Singh are on top of the list. KPCC working president Saleem Ahmed said that they have constituted a committee under Eshwar Khandre to look at bypoll preparations.

Ordinance out: 3-7 years imprisonment for cow slaughter

FOR REPRESENTATIVE PURPOSE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE State Government on Tuesday promulgated the Karnataka Prevention of Slaughter and Preservation of Cattle Ordinance 2020 which makes cow slaughter a cognizable offence and attracts three to seven years of imprisonment.

The government had decided to take the ordinance route after the Bill, which was passed in the Assembly last month, was stalled in the Council amid ruckus by opposition and ruling party members.

The ordinance seeks a total ban on cow slaughter and stringent punishment for those indulging in illegal transportation and slaughtering of cows. Cattle means cow, calf, bull, bullock, and he or she buffalo below the age of thirteen years. The ordinance also seeks Rs 50,000 to Rs 5 lakh as fine for the violators.

"In the case of second and subsequent offence with a further fine which shall not be less than one lakh rupees but which may extend to ten lakh rupees," the ordinance states.

The ordinance makes it clear that no suit, prosecution or other legal proceedings shall be instituted against the competent authority or any person exercising powers under the Ordinance. The ordinance empowers police sub-inspectors to conduct search and seizure, and allows killing of buffaloes which are more than 13 years old.

Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister J Madhu Swamy had earlier stated that the anti-cow slaughter law was already in force in Karnataka and the government is only bringing some amendments by increasing the penalty and terms of imprisonment. After the ordinance was promulgated, The Karnataka Prevention of Cow Slaughter and Cattle Preservation Act 1964 (Karnataka Act 35 of 1964) stands repealed.

MAKING IT STRICTER

- Slaughter to be a cognizable offence.
- Designate any court as special court for purpose of speedy to disposal of cases
- Restriction on transport outside the state without permit
- Sub-divisional magistrate may order confiscation of properties.

CASH-STRAPPED

No ELs for govt staffers this year

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE cash-strapped State Government has decided to stop Earned Leaves (ELs) for government employees from this month.

The order by the Under Secretary, Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms (DPAR), stated that a government servant may surrender EL not exceeding 15 days out of the leave in his credit and receive the cash equivalent as salary. But as the State Government is facing a financial crisis, it is not able to pay EL equivalent to the employees. The facility will be cancelled for this year, starting from January 2021 to December 2021, it stated.

However, the rule is not applicable to employees retiring this year. "They can avail cash for their earned leaves," the order said.

Sriramulu to work from villages twice a month

Social Welfare Minister B Sriramulu, along with his team of officials, will work from villages twice a month to hear the grievances of villagers and try to resolve them on the spot. He launched the initiative, "Our step towards village", on Tuesday.

Releasing a New Year calendar, he said that senior officials from the department too will have to work from villages every month. First, the Scheduled Tribes Development Department Director will work from villages twice a month, and later it will be extended to all sections within the department.

He directed officials to visit tribal hamlets or villages where more number of Schedule Caste and Schedule Tribe people stay. "It will soon be made mandatory" he said. The government brings out many schemes for SC/STs, but they are successful only if they reach intended beneficiaries.

After meet, CM assures ₹25cr to each constituency

AMIT SHAH COMING

Home Minister Amit Shah is expected to visit Karnataka on January 16 and 17 to attend various programmes in Bhadravati and Belagavi. "We will get a clear picture of his itinerary in two days," Savadi said.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE two-day meeting of the BJP MLAs with Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa ended on Tuesday with him assuring them Rs 25 crore per constituency to take up development works. The MLAs had apprised the Chief Minister about the pending projects in their constituencies and requested him to clear them.

Speaking to the reporters on the meet, Deputy CMs Lakshman Savadi and Govind Karajol said the meeting was successful and that the CM spoke to each MLA. The meeting was a platform for them to give their suggestions and also air their grievances related to the party as well as their constituency.

Savadi said the MLAs had given many suggestions on strengthening the party and about not discussing the party's internal issues in public.

Stating that all MLAs were happy with Yediyurappa's leadership, except one MLA who spoke against the CM, Karajol indirectly pointed to Basavaraj Yatnal. On Monday, at the meeting, Yatnal is said to have raised an objection to what he called the "step-motherly" treatment meted out to some assembly constituencies and also accused Yediyurappa's son B Y Vijayendra, also state unit vice president, of interfering in the government.

Minister S T Somashekar said that the MLAs' grievances and suggestions were noted. On the recent Gram Panchayat elections, Savadi said the party will hold a three day-convention, starting January 11, to felicitate the winners. Yediyurappa will launch the event in Mysuru.

Savadi said five teams have been constituted. Each team will travel to six districts, covering all 30, and felicitate the winners. He said before the panchayat elections, they conducted 62 meetings at various places, which was one of the reasons for victory.

Kannada test must for recruitment

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TO encourage merit and reduce scope for any manipulation during interviews, the State Government is reducing the number of marks awarded to candidates during interviews for Group A and B posts to just 5 per cent of the total marks. It has also made it mandatory for the candidates to take the 150 marks Kannada test to get the job.

As per the draft of the Karnataka Civil Services (Direct Recruitment) (General) Rules 2020 published on Tuesday inviting objections, if any, "The marks secured by the candidates in written examination or the qualifying examination shall not be published or made known to the members conducting the interview. They shall be kept strictly confidential."

Sources said maximum marks for interview have been reduced significantly to ensure that meritorious candidates, who do well in written examinations, will get the jobs.

As per the draft rules, each candidate will undergo an interview for a duration of 25 to 30 minutes and only a maximum of nine candidates shall be called per day. Every week the members of the interview board shall be changed by the Chairman of the Selection Authority, the draft rules state. If the marks given are more than 80 per cent or less than 40 per cent of the maximum marks of interview, then the interview board member has to record reasons for it.

The draft makes it clear that the Kannada language test is a must to get the job. The Kannada test will comprise one paper carrying a maximum of 150 marks. A candidate must secure a minimum of 50 marks to qualify.

Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister J C Madhuswamy said the Kannada language test was mandatory earlier too. But now they have made certain changes in interviews, including reducing the number of candidates called for interview from five candidates for each vacancy to three.

'Probe will look into only officials' lapses'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kalaburagi

THE inquiry ordered by the Chairman of the Karnataka Legislative Council into the December 15 unruly scenes in the House will only look into the lapses of officials, and not members' conduct, said Minister for Law & Parliamentary Affairs and Minor Irrigation J C Madhu Swamy here on Tuesday. He was replying to a question on the probe.

A fortnight after the ruckus erupted over a no-trust motion against Council Chairman K Pratap Chandra Shetty, an all-party special committee was formed to look into the incident.

On that day, while the BJP members demanded that the chair allow the motion, the Congress members protested. Before the Council Chairman came to the House, the ruling BJP made Deputy Chairman S L Dharme Gowda, a JDS MLC, to sit on the chair. Angered by this, Congress members forcibly removed Dharme Gowda from the seat.

The minister said that whatever had happened that day was unintentional. He said that as the BJP and JDS members thought that Council Chairman Shetty would not chair the proceedings as a notice for the no-trust motion was already served, Dharme Gowda was asked to chair the meeting.

Incidentally, Dharme Gowda allegedly committed suicide on a railway track at Gunasagar village, Chikkamagaluru district, on December 28.

When his attention was drawn to Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla's call for a high-level inquiry into the death, Madhu Swamy said that the Speaker might have felt that the pandemonium in the Council might have driven Dharme Gowda to death.

Denotification took place with BSY as CM

IN connection with the land denotification at Matadahalli, RTI activist Jayakumar Hiremath had registered a private complaint against Yediyurappa in 2015 and thereafter, an FIR was registered by the Lokayukta police. Questioning this, Yediyurappa had filed the petition in 2017.

According to the FIR, Yediyurappa had allegedly denotified 1.11 acres in 2010, three different pieces of land acquired during 1976-77, at Matadahalli, near RT Nagar in Bengaluru. Within 20 days from the date of denotification, the land was allegedly transferred to relatives of former Chief Minister H D Kumaraswamy.

Yediyurappa denotified one acre and 11 guntas in Survey Nos. 7/1 (b), 7/1(c) and 7/1(d). The land was originally owned by Thimmareddy, Nagappa and Muniswamappa. The file was put up twice in 2007, on instructions from Kumaraswamy when he was Chief Minister. He had received a representation from Rajashekaraiah, a resident of Rajajinagar, who claimed to be the land owner. However, the denotification took place only after Yediyurappa became Chief Minister.

Why can't Bhyrappa see farmer protests in Karnataka, asks Devanur

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

WELL-known Kannada writer Devanur Mahadev on Tuesday slammed another renowned author S L Bhyrappa for his comments against protesting farmers in Delhi and asked whether he has gone out of his senses to miss the protests happening in Karnataka too. Bhyrappa had recently alleged that the farmer protest in Delhi is the handiwork of Punjabi farmers and that it does not have the support of agriculturists from across the country.

Mahadev said, "The protest in Karnataka may be of lesser intensity, but it has more value as farmers have been joined by Dalits, workers, and women. The protests are also against lies, hate and intolerance."

He alleged that the BJP has introduced the unethical practice of Operation Lotus at Gram Panchayat elections too. The new members of Gram Panchayats, who have won with the support of Raitha Sangha, Swaraj India and Dalit organisations, should be cautious of BJP leaders trying to lure them with money, he said. "Your win was definitely an achievement. But from today, you will have to win over such tactics, and your own desires and pressures," he advised.

Newly elected Gram Panchayat members were felicitated in Mysuru on Tuesday. Writer Devanuru Mahadev and farmer leader Badagalapura Nagendra look on Bhyrappa's statements were also slammed by Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha president Badagalpura Nagendra, who said that the writer should have visited the protest site in Delhi to understand the reality.

In Hubballi, eminent agriculture scientist Prof M Mahadevappa supported the sweeping reforms in the farm sector by the Modi government.

In a letter to Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar, Mahadevappa, a Padmabhushan award winner, listed out the merits of new farm laws and appealed to the Centre not to repeal them because of ongoing protests in New Delhi. He, however, suggested that a regulatory body be set up to keep a check on the sector opened up for private players.

He pointed out that farmers' rights cannot be restricted to only APMC yards and market areas, and there is a need to uphold the rights of farmers and buyers outside APMCs too. Widening the scope of the market to enhance competition enables farmers towards better price realisation and reduction of marketing costs, he added.

On farmers' demand that minimum support price (MSP) be included in the new law, he said that MSP is a notional price and making MSP legal requires at least Rs 3.6 lakh crore of taxpayers' money to cover all the 23 commodities.

Setting up of ENAM has fetched farmers 38 per cent higher price. With Nominal Protection Coefficient for agriculture at 0.87, farmers can realise a 13 per cent higher price in international markets, he stated.

A major fire broke out at a battery manufacturing plant in the KIADB Industrial Area in Harohalli, on Tuesday. No casualty was reported. Senior ISRO scientist alleges plot to kill him

Prof Misra blames espionage attack by 'mysterious men'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A former director of Indian Space Research Organisation's (ISRO) Space Application Centre (SAC) in Ahmedabad has alleged an "espionage attack" by "mysterious men" who tried to assassinate him twice. He alleges that the gang is targeting scientists and scientific institutions in the country and does not rule out this "modus operandi" for "adjusting" seniority within the organisation.

Not blaming any person, organisation, or country, the senior ISRO scientist, Prof Tapan Misra, set to retire on January 31, says, "The motive appears to be espionage attack, embedded in the Government setup, to remove a scientist with critical contribution of very large military and commercial significance, like expertise in building Synthetic Aperture Radar. I will also not rule out... a new modus operandi of adjusting seniority (within ISRO) and clear me (sic) who was perceived as (an) obstacle."

Prof Tapan Misra

In a startling Facebook post, "Long Kept Secret", on Tuesday, Prof Misra, currently a senior advisor to ISRO, says the first assassination attempt on him was made on May 23, 2017 during a promotion interview at the ISRO headquarters in Bengaluru, and again on July 12, 2019 in Ahmedabad. He also points at more recent attempts to kill him by releasing poisonous snakes into his house in Ahmedabad through "a carefully laid secret tunnel in my compound and hidden in a trove of banana plantations".

Mentioning the "highly suspicious death of Prof Vikram Sarabhai (founder-chairman of ISRO) in 1971" and "doubts about sudden death of Dr S Srinivasan" (former director of Vikram Sarabhai Space Centre), Misra says that he is "convinced that these are the men, embedded in our system (who) are leading to mysterious deaths of scientists and destruction of our institutions." He attributes the infamous 1994 ISRO espionage case which targeted Nambi Narayanan to these "mysterious men".

Misra alleges that the first attempt in May 2017 involved poisoning him with the deadly Arsenic Trioxide while he was attending an interview for being promoted from Scientist 'F' to 'G' grade. The attack made him suffer for two years and he lost nearly 30-40 per cent of blood and could barely reach Ahmedabad where he was rushed to a hospital.

In the second attempt in July 2019, he says, "My security was breached and I was poisoned with gaseous poison, probably Hydrogen Cyanide, which hypoxiates leaving no trace.... leading to convulsion, loss of senses and memory. I survived because of NSG training for my PSO. I was transferred immediately to hospital, administered ozonised oxygen and had to spend (a) couple of days in ICU."

He says the attempt "happened just prior to (the) planned launch date of Chandrayan-2 on July 15...Probably to prevent me (from being) present there (at Sriharikota)."

He says, "What pains me is that the ISRO hierarchy and my colleagues tried to shun me as a pariah. I pleaded with two successive Chairmen to help me in getting justice." Misra confirmed to TNIE that he posted this on FB keeping younger scientists in mind. He said that the incidents should be investigated to rid the system of such elements.

Missing woman found murdered in Kamakshipalya

BENGALURU: A 42-year-old woman, who had gone missing on Monday, was allegedly murdered by a 23-year-old man in Kamakshipalya police station limits on Tuesday. Police have filed a rape and murder case based on a complaint by her husband. The woman worked at a printing press. Police found the woman murdered in a house, which belongs to Praveen. "It has been found that the woman had a relationship with Praveen and had gone to meet him on Monday. It is suspected that they fought over some issue and Praveen murdered her," an officer said.

Man arrested for raping 71-year-old neighbour

BENGALURU: Koramangala police arrested a 31-year-old man for allegedly raping his 71-year-old neighbour. The accused has been identified as Julie Rosa. The alleged incident took place on Saturday. "Someone rang the doorbell. It was Rosa and I asked him how he had entered the house. He told me that the glass door at the entrance was broken. When I returned after checking the door, he dragged me to the bedroom and raped me," she told police, who nabbed Rosa. "He claimed to be a transgender, but a medical report confirmed that he is male," police said.

Guard breaks into techie's house

BENGALURU: A security guard allegedly broke into the house of a techie, when he was in Tirupati with his family for the New Year, and decamped with valuables of over Rs 20 lakh. Police said Deepak, residing at Vyalikaval Society Layout in KG Halli, had asked the security guard Sanjay to keep watch when he was away. "On January 3, Deepak was alerted by a neighbour that the main door of his flat was open... CCTV showed that Sanjay and his aides had burgled the house," police said.

500 gm of gold seized in 24 hours at KIA, say Customs

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

IN the first major seizures made in the New Year, the Air Intelligence Unit of the Customs department at Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) has seized 504.96 gm of gold, smuggled from Gulf countries, from three passengers in the last 24 hours. The gold, valued at over Rs 26 lakh, was concealed inside iron boxes, chargers and belts.

On Tuesday evening, two passengers on a flight from Dubai smuggled 180 gm of gold valued at Rs 9.5 lakh. "They colluded with each other, but appeared to keep a distance from each other during travel," said a top Customs official.

The duo arrived at KIA by a 'FlyDubai' flight (FZ 4007) at 3.30 pm. Giving details, the officer said that when the bags, chargers and belts of the duo were passed through the baggage scanner, very dark dots were seen on the baggage scanner. "An examination of their passports revealed that the duo were natives of Chennai and had travelled recently to Dubai. Frequent travel gives cause for suspicion. They appeared uncomfortable and gave vague answers when asked details about their trips," he said.

"The chargers belts and bag chains had tiny, square, thick gold pieces hidden in them," the official added.

In another case that came to light late around 11.30 pm on Monday, crude gold weighing 322.84 gm and valued at Rs 17.1 lakh, was smuggled on a Kuwait Airlines flight (KU 1353) inside an iron box brought in the check-in baggage.

The 32-year-old male passenger hailed from Kadapa district in Andhra Pradesh.

In a minor seizure on January 2, gold was again recovered from the same FlyDubai flight a passenger's trouser. "Gold paste, weighing 98 gm, was hidden in the hem of the waist area and was valued at Rs 5 lakh," the official added.

Bird flu: Six TN border districts on high alert

State also requests railways not to ferry any bird feed ingredients, other products from Kerala

B ANBUSELVAN @Chennai

NEW year, new problems. With the outbreak of a fresh bird flu episode in the neighbouring State of Kerala, the State government on Tuesday tightened vigil to prevent any poultry transport through its checkposts. All the vehicles coming from the two infected Kerala districts – Alappuzha and Kottayam -- would be disinfected at the State border, said officials. The government has also requested the railways to not transport any feed ingredients for birds and other poultry products from Kerala by trains.

"As many as 26 check posts, have been opened in Tenkasi, Kanniyakumari, Theni, Coimbatore, Tirupur and Nilgiri districts, to monitor vehicle movement from Kerala, round the clock," A Gnanasekaran, Director of Animal Husbandry and Veterinary Services, said. He added, directions were issued to all stakeholders, including district-level authorities, the Egg Coordination Committee, the Broiler Coordination Committee, and poultry farmers, to take up the required bio-infection control measures.

The influenza is caused by a virus in birds and it can be transmitted to human beings. The sudden spread among ducks in Kerala has put Tamil Nadu on high alert. The government protocol also restricts entry of visitors from other States into poultry farms. Workers have also been asked to cover their faces using masks while feeding the chicks.

"Following the instructions, we have restricted entry of visitors. We have sufficient cereals and other ingredients to produce feed for birds within the State. Hence, the precautionary measures will not have any impact immediately," said Dr CS Selvakumar, member of the Broiler Coordination Committee. VS Balasubramaniam, Assistant General Manager of the National Egg Coordination Committee, Namakkal Zone, said: "The issue is being monitored closely and maximum precautions are being taken."

Karnataka foresters to keep an eye on bird spots

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WITH cases of bird flu (H5N1) rising in various states including Gujarat, Maharashtra and Kerala, the Karnataka forest department is taking precautionary steps. Officials have been deployed at all places where migratory birds settle and breed. "So far no cases of deaths or any other signs have been reported. However, the guidelines of the Union Ministry of Environment and Forests have been sent to the deputy conservator of forests in each district to ensure that there are no untoward incidents," Principal Chief Conservator of Forests, Wildlife, Ajai Misra told TNIE.

> The guidelines of the Union Ministry of Environment and Forests have been sent to the deputy conservator of forests in each district
>
> Ajai Misra, Principal Chief Conservator of Forests, Wildlife

A large number of migratory birds were seen around water bodies in Gadag, Bidar, Almatti, Ranganthittu, Kokkarebellur, Magadi, Ballari and many other places. Misra said that in case any cases are reported, the ministry will be informed and all directions as per the protocols will be followed in dealing with the situation.

Zoo managements across the state have also been told to exercise caution. Poultry meat being procured to feed animals will also be checked and birds in the zoos will be monitored closely.

In the wake of the cases being reported in other states, the Mysuru district administration has banned the transportation of all types of birds.

Meanwhile, the poultry association is also on the alert. Karnataka Poultry Farmers and Breeders Association president Sushanth Rai B said that the ducks in Kerala and the crows in Maharashtra were affected because of H5N1. "However, in Karnataka, it has nothing to do with poultry so far. All precautions are in place. Bio-security measures are in place in all poultry farms. Farmers and breeders are on high alert," he said. Rai added that consumers need not fear and expressed confidence that the sale of poultry would remain unaffected.

Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said that directions were already issued to health officials to keep a close watch in the border districts. He added that the guidelines to be followed in all districts will soon be issued.

Didn't sign letter backing Love Jihad Law: Former judges

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

FORMER Kerala High Court judges refuted reports that they were signatories to the campaign extending support to the implementation of the Love Jihad Law in Uttar Pradesh. While a former HC judge said he was told about the campaign but never gave his support, another judge said he is not even aware of the signature campaign.

A statement had claimed that four former HC judges have signed the letter sent to the UP Chief Minister.

As many as 200 retired bureaucrats and judicial officers, including former chief justices of high courts, chief secretaries and DGPs, have sent a letter to CM Yogi Adityanath in support of the new law against religious conversions in UP.

Justice Balakrishnan Nair, former judge of the Kerala HC, whose name appeared in the statement, said that nobody has contacted him in connection with the statement. "I am not aware of the statement and have not signed or supported any campaign," he said.

Another judge, who sought anonymity, said he did not want his name to be dragged into controversies. Meanwhile, a former Kerala HC judge admitted that he gave a digital signature supporting the law.

The statement, reportedly signed by over 200 former bureaucrats and judges, was issued in response to an open letter sent to the UP chief minister last week by over 100 ex-bureaucrats saying that the new anti-conversion law had turned the state into "the epicentre of politics of hate, division and bigotry".

BIRD FESTIVAL ON DESPITE CONCERNS OVER VIRUS

KARTHIK K K @Mysuru/Chamarajanagar

THE seventh edition of the Karnataka Bird Festival at Biligiri Ranganathaswamy Temple (BRT) Tiger Reserve began on Tuesday despite the bird flu outbreak reported in Kerala and other states in the country. The annual festival, organised by the Forest Department in association with Jungle Lodges and Resorts Limited, offers bird watchers a chance to catch a glimpse of many migratory birds at BRT.

However, reports of a large number of birds dying due to avian flu in Kerala, Himachal Pradesh and Maharashtra have caused the forest and animal husbandry departments' officials, bird watchers and the general public to worry. The organisers' decision to hold the festival despite the Union Forest Ministry issuing an advisory regarding the flu, has come under fire from several bird watchers.

"The bird festival could have been cancelled as the advisory from the ministry was released on January 3. There was no urgency. It could have been postponed after the situation returns to normal," said a bird watcher, on condition of anonymity.

Meanwhile, an alert has been sounded in the Mysuru wildlife division, which covers the Kokkare Bellur and Ranganthittu bird sanctuaries, and Sri Chamarajendra Zoological Gardens.

Speaking to TNIE, Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) K C Prashanth Kumar said t hat they received guidelines from the Centre and have increased surveillance in the region.

Executive director of Mysuru Zoo Ajith Kulkarni said that there was no need for worry as all preventive measures were in place at the zoo.

Deputy Commissioner Rohini Sindhuri ordered a ban on the entry of poultry from Kerala to Mysuru via Bavali checkpost and directed officials to sanitise vehicles entering the state from Kerala.

Give details of number of old age homes: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday asked the state government to place on record details about the number of old age homes it has established. It also asked the government to provide the minimum standards set for the maintenance of even private old age homes, within three weeks.

Hearing a public interest litigation against the alleged disturbance being caused by a private old age home, a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Satish Chandra Sharma also sought response from the government on the establishment of old age homes as per the provisions of the Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act, 2007.

They said that as per Section 19 of the Act, it is the obligation of the state to establish one old age home in each district with a minimum of 150 senior citizens who are indigent.

The bench said that Section 19 (1) of the Act says that the state government may establish and maintain such a number of old age homes at accessible places, as it may deem necessary, in a phased manner.

Section 19(2) of the Act says that the state government may prescribe a scheme for the management of old age homes, including medical care and means of entertainment, the bench said.

On the petitioners' grievances, the bench said that if an order is passed to close the old age home referred to in the petition, it will be a violation of fundamental rights of the inhabitants. It suggested that the trustees of the home convene a meeting with the petitioners.

Further hearing will be held on January 27.

Hyderabad second-most surveilled city in the world

AIHIK SUR @ Hyderabad

HYDERABAD is the second-most surveilled city in the world, beating major cities such as London, Beijing and New York. Hard to believe? Read on. A study -- 'The Top Surveillance Cities Worldwide' published in the South Asia Journal and conducted by Surfshark -- says Hyderabad has 480 CCTVs per sq km and 30 for every 1,000 people.

This number is second only to Chennai which is adjudged as the most surveilled city in the world. Chennai has 657 CCTVs per sq km and 25.5 CCTVs per 1,000 people. London comes a distant fourth when compared to Hyderabad, with 399 cameras per sq km. six Chinese cities feature in the top 10 -- Beijing, Harbin, Xiamen and so on.

Surfshark, a company offering virtual private network (VPN) solutions, alluded this increasing mode of surveillance to social theorist Jeremy Bentham, who in 1785 designed 'Panopticon' -- a prison building where the guard at the centre can watch every prisoner around him. "The prisoners would never know who he was watching -- so in theory, they'd behave responsibly, as though they were being watched. Today, Panopticon has escaped the prison. He's in our CCTV cameras and every digital trace we leave," Surfshark said in its study.

Although senior officials of the Hyderabad Police did not respond to queries made by Express, they have maintained that CCTV cameras play a major role in the prevention of crime and help identify criminals.

SPARE NONE IN TEMPLE ATTACKS: JAGAN

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Vijayawada/Vizianagaram

SENDING a clear message that his government will deal sternly with perpetrators of attacks on temples, Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy on Tuesday directed police not to spare anyone behind the vandalisation of idols.

Speaking at length on the issue of attacks on temples in the State during the Spandana video conference with Collectors and Superintendents of Police of all the districts, Jagan reiterated that a political guerilla warfare is going on in the State and instructed the police to investigate thoroughly to ascertain as to who are behind the attacks. "Find out who are behind the attacks and how influential they are, do not hesitate to take action against them. Make the names of the perpetrators public and deal with them sternly so that perpetrators of such acts should fear to commit such crimes in the future," he said.

The Chief Minister said the attacks on temples are being carried out with evil political intentions. The attacks are being carried out systematically. The attacks are taking place on temples after carefully choosing them. Temples in remote and isolated places were targeted at night. The next day, the attacks hits the headlines in some television channels and the Opposition parties try to gain mileage from them," he said.

Sri Swatmanandendra Saraswati Swamy meets Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Y S Jagan Mohan Reddy in Tadepalli, Andhra Pradesh, on Tuesday | EXPRESS

Reiterating what he said during the AP Police Duty Meet on Monday, Jagan stated that these incidents occurred around the time when some prestigious welfare schemes were launched. "They are trying to divert public attention from government programmes by resorting to such incidents. Unable to face the government directly which is gaining popularity with is welfare initiatives, some elements out of sheer jealousy are resorting to such attacks to defame the government," the Chief Minister said, and instructed the police to carefully assess the situation.

On the steps taken by his government to prevent attacks on temples, he said over 36,000 CCTV cameras were installed in temples in the State to step up surveillance.

Police foil yatra to Ramatheertham, arrest BJP chief, several other leaders

Visakhapatnam/Vizianagaram: The police foiled the 'Ramatheertham Dharma Yatra' planned by the BJP-Jana Sena combine to protest against desecration of Rama idol at Sri Kodandarama temple atop Bodikonda at Ramatheertham in Vizianagaram district. Tension prevailed at Ramatheertham when the police tried to prevent BJP president Somu Veeraju from going to the temple. In the melee, Somu fell down. Speaking to mediapersons, Somu Veeraju said when YSRC MP Vijayasai Reddy and TDP president N Chanrababu Naidu were given permission to visit Ramatheertham, how can they deny permission to the BJP leaders. "We will not rest till we bring down chief minister Jagan Mohan Reddy. If the chief minister has commitment to the people, he should prevent attacks on temples," he demanded. Meanwhile, the police surrounded Veeraju and shifted him to Vizianagaram. Earlier, the police imposed Section 30 and Section 144 at Ramatheertham. The police also kept several BJP and Jana Sena leaders in house arrest in Visakhapatnam and Vizianagaram. A large contingent of police personnel was deployed at Nellimarla and Ramatheertham. Check posts were set up on the outskirts of Nellimarla and in Vizianagaram to prevent the entry of BJP and JSP activists from other areas. ENS

CM encouraging religious conversions: Naidu

Vijayawada: A day after the party politburo meeting which demanded a CBI inquiry into attacks on temples in the State, TDP supremo and Opposition Leader N Chandrababu Naidu on Tuesday launched a scathing attack on Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy accusing him of encouraging religious conversions by misusing his official position. In an apparent bid to prove a point that the TDP is a champion for the cause of Hindus, Naidu minced no words in attacking Jagan. "This was a blatant violation of the Constitution. Who gave the authority to Jagan to encourage conversions and hurt the sentiments of other religions. I believe in Lord Venkateswara, you have faith in Jesus Christ. He maintained that the pace of work on the connectivity front happening now was never seen before in earlier decades. "In the 27 years before 2014, only 15,000 kilometres of natural gas pipeline was built. Right now, work is under way on more than 16,000 kilometres of gas pipeline nationwide, which will be completed in the next 5-6 years. This government has delivered CNG fuel stations, PNG connections and LPG connections, which was never seen before," the PM stressed.

Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa said the project will boost the commercial sector and industrial growth in Mangaluru and other parts of the coastal region, generating employment for the youths. He thanked the engineers for successfully implementing the challenging task of laying pipelines through waterways and hilly terrains, using advanced technology.

AAP PUNCHING WAY ABOVE ITS WEIGHT FOR PAN-INDIA FOOTPRINT

When the AAP entered the political landscape in 2013 with its base in Delhi, it rode a wave of goodwill, hope and expectation stretching far beyond the national capital. It captured the imagination of the masses and the classes in equal measure. The party has since then been active mainly in Delhi and Punjab, although in the northern state it has lost much ground. Now the AAP is seeking to spread its wings beyond the two states and has declared its intent to test the electoral waters in Uttar Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Gujarat and even Assam. Whether it is only a trial balloon or a serious attempt at capturing power is as yet unclear, but the party is clearly aiming too high. In all these states, the AAP neither has a strong leadership, nor a well-established party structure and rank and file, essential prerequisites for any party. From all accounts, it is trying to garner support only on the promise of replicating the Delhi model of governance. But in all probability, this will fall far short.

What the party must remember is that it was born in the backdrop of a series of corruption scandals, with some sort of idealistic principles as its foundational base. It positioned itself as an alternative to the existing discredited political parties. But corruption is no longer a central issue, nor is the AAP now very different from the mainstream parties. This is not to suggest the party should not be ambitious, that is their prerogative and it needs to be respected. But before eyeing other states, it could perhaps think of taking the Delhi model to another level. The party's government has done well on public education and health. But nowhere are the city's roads comparable to London's, a promise chief minister Arvind Kejriwal rather ambitiously made. Public transportation is also in a bad shape while hardly any new infrastructure has been added in the last six years. Clean drinking water is still a pipe dream for many, especially in the less developed colonies. Lastly, the Covid pandemic brought out its administrative inexperience and the city reeled under the disease during its peak. So the AAP should fix Delhi first. Other states can follow later.

ANOTHER MINISTER PUTS BJD IN A SPOT

The brutal murder of a BJP leader along with his associate in Cuttack district has once again sent the political temperature soaring in Odisha, with another minister of the BJD government in the centre of controversy. The 73-year-old BJP leader, Kulamani Baral, was hacked to death on Saturday night in Mahanga police station limits by a group of miscreants. On Tuesday, the Cuttack (Rural) Police claimed to have nabbed four perpetrators of the crime. However, the double murder has the BJD government in a spot, with state law minister Pratap Jena named in the FIR. The ruling party has rubbished the allegations and so has Jena, who represents the Assembly segment. But the BJP has upped its ante, calling for the minister's sacking. National spokesperson Aparajita Sarangi accused the Odisha government of rising political murders and said the BJP has been at the receiving end of violence since the 2017 panchayat polls. The party has launched a statewide agitation over the murders and plans to mount pressure, with national leaders visiting the state soon. Like it did with the Nayagarh case, where agriculture minister Arun Kumar Sahoo's name was dragged, the BJP, now the primary opposition, is unlikely to relent with key polls to urban and panchayat bodies ahead.

After the 2019 general elections, when Naveen Patnaik's BJD stood unscathed against the Modi wave for the second time, the two parties displayed unusual political camaraderie. While the BJD offered support to the NDA on key issues, the BJP also more than reciprocated. Not very long ago, the then party chief Amit Shah had even cited the law and order situation of Odisha while taking potshots at Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee for the rising political violence in the neighbouring state. But politics can be truly dynamic. The BJD supremo recently made his party's political gameplan clear by targeting the national outfits and it is unlikely that the BJP would let go of any chance to get back. With the Congress slipping continuously and barely making any effort to set its house in order, the political space in the state will be worth a watch as the two major forces square off.

The narrow characterisation of farmers pushes people to think that they cannot organise themselves, that they are manipulated by activists with strident ideological positions

PLACING FARMERS AND THEIR LEADERS IN A PIGEONHOLE

SUGATA SRINIVASARAJU

Senior journalist and author

AMIT BANDRE

There is a certain stereotype of the farmer that has been peddled during the ongoing farmers' agitation. The stereotype has a positive side to it as well as a flip side. The positive side tries to assert their resilience, determination, patience, innocence, minimalism, self-respect and fortitude. All these are seemingly associated with the physicality of their profession. Due to the fact that they work in the fields and with their hands, it is philosophised that they absorb the very nature of earth. The flip side of this archetype is that they are not often given credit for logical thinking, flawless reasoning, innovation and ideas. In others words, the cerebral is not associated with them—they are all about brawn and being emotional.

The narrow characterisation of farmers pushes people to think that they cannot organise themselves; they are manipulated by activists with strident ideological positions; they are not fashionable, and they don't clean their bodies with scented soap. In all, they are ragged, lost and eccentric. The perpetuation of these images and opinions is not just limited to farmers but also farmers' leaders. They are presented as humbling, mumbling comic characters on their charpai thrones. This has been true of Charan Singh, Devi Lal, Deve Gowda and Mahendra Singh Tikait.

Let us look at Chaudhary Charan Singh, who is referred to as the 'champion of peasants'. There is a picture of him in Tavleen Singh's book 'Durbar', when as a young reporter, she goes to check out the 'janata darshan' of a man who was then the deputy prime minister. She contrasts his style with the clipped, bureaucratic manner of Prime Minister Morarji Desai's engagement, and that of opposition leader Indira Gandhi who is employing touch and emotion to deal with people. As Charan Singh sat cross-legged on the charpai listening to the peasants who were sitting before him on their haunches, she wonders why the farmers are speaking of power connections, when they should be speaking about the abysmal condition of healthcare, basic hygiene and sanitation (of course, she honestly admits that she was new to journalism and didn't understand the primary concern of farmers). Later, when she goes into the bungalow to use the bathroom, she has a peek at Charan Singh's bedroom with only a mattress on the floor, and a kind of "low wooden desk of the kind Indian accountants used in older times. It was here that he sat every morning to write his books on agriculture and the peasantry". There are more details in the book, and it is by and large an assessment of a Lutyens native of a peasant leader.

Now, the dismissive mention of Charan Singh's book writing should get us curious. He has written many, but I picked up a copy of his 1981 book, a 600-page tome titled 'Economic Nightmare of India: Its Cause and Cure', and started browsing through it, focusing especially on part one and part three that discuss the state of the union, static economic conditions of India, the capital starvation of agriculture, land reforms, decentralisation and of course, the exploitation of the farmer. Part two of the book deals with industry, mixed economy, labour policy, unemployment and foreign loans. The entire book is an elaborate critique of the Nehruvian as well as the Marxist economic model, while offering a critical appreciation of the Gandhian method: "I have not attempted to project the Gandhian alternative for the solution of India's economic problems in any contentious spirit of polemics. I have no desire to run down what has been achieved in India. All I mean to say, and emphatically, is that Gandhi and Nehru cannot be hyphenated—whether in academic debate or in real life," he writes. At another place, he says: "Nehru's Tryst with Destiny, however, has turned out to be a date with despair." One may agree or disagree with this book, and books are not about canonical endorsements, but it is the thoroughness of the experience, the unique reading of history and the passionate force of argument. That is not to say this book is a harangue. It is filled with hundreds of statistical charts (data from across the globe fill up each page), surveys of existing literature on economics and agriculture, recall of forgotten reports, besides postulation of big, bold ideas—an undoubted mark of abiding scholarship and informed leadership.

> The perpetuation of these images and opinions is not just limited to farmers but also their leaders. They are presented as humbling, mumbling comic characters on their charpai thrones. This has been true of Charan Singh, Devi Lal, Deve Gowda and Mahendra Singh Tikait

Charan Singh quotes a 1926 report by a 'Businessmen's Commission of Agriculture' appointed by the US Chamber of Commerce, which says: "Agriculture is not merely a way of making money by raising crops; it is not merely an industry or a business; it is essentially a public function or service performed by private individuals for the care and use of the land in the national interest; and farmers in the course of their pursuit of a living and a private profit are the custodians of the basis of the national life. Agriculture is, therefore, affected with a clear and unquestionable public interest, and its status is a matter of national concern calling for deliberate and farsighted national policies, not only to conserve the natural and human resources involved in it, but to provide for national security, promote a well-rounded prosperity and secure social and political stability." He agrees with this view, and it is interesting and instructive to view the ongoing protests in the backdrop of this definition. Outside of this book, it is nearly forgotten that it was Charan Singh who drafted the Uttar Pradesh land reforms legislation in the early 1950s, and the Agriculture Produce Market Bill in 1938. Therefore, the farmers who made him their leader perhaps know what they are talking about.

ATOMISM IN ANCIENT INDIA & THE NYAAYA-VAISESHIKA SYSTEM

M S SRIRAM

Theoretical Physicist & President, Prof. K.V. Sarma Research Foundation

The doctrine of the panchabhootas was propounded in India to understand the apparently complex and diverse world during the Upanishadic period, as described in the previous article in the series (Dec 11). It was elaborated in the later Saamkhya system, according to which all gross things are formed by the grouping and regrouping of the five elements. But it is in the Vaiseshika and Nyaaya systems, especially the former, that this doctrine was developed further and an atomic theory was propounded.

The primary source of the Vaiseshika system is the Vaiseshika-sootra of Kanaada (around 600 BCE). In Sanskrit, 'Kanaada' means one who eats grains or particles. More appropriately, kana may mean atom and Kanaada, which would mean atom-eater, was called so as he was the propounder of the atomic theory. Prashastapaada's Padaarthadharmasangraha (4th century CE) is the next important text of this school. This text and many others in the Nyaaya system take the Vaiseshika system significantly forward, resulting in what can be termed the Nyaaya-Vaiseshika system.

In the Vaiseshika system, all objects that exist and can be experienced are padaarthas that are classified into seven categories, of which dravya (substance) is the most basic one. There are nine dravyas. Five of them are the panchabhootas, namely prithvi (earth), ap (water), tejas (fire), vaayu (air) and aakaasha (ether), which are material and bhautika (physical). Four of them, namely kaala (time), dik (space), manas (mind) and aatma (soul) are non-physical. The translated terms are only indicative.

The first four dravyas, that is, 'earth', 'water', 'fire' and 'air', in the fundamental state, and the 'mind', always, are atomic in nature. In the ultimate stage, the physical universe consists of an indefinite number of paramaanus or atoms of the first four types and three infinite and pervasive entities, namely, aakaasha, time and space. The paramaanus are the ultimate constituents and cannot be divided further. The four of them in the atomic form enter into the composition of the world. The mind in the atomic form and the soul help in the organisation of productive forms into structures capable of experiencing pleasure and pain.

The argument for the impossibility of dividing matter indefinitely was as follows. If it were possible, every material product would consist of an equally endless number of constituents and there would be no difference of dimension amongst the various products. But it cannot be denied that there is such a difference. Hence, it is necessary to hold that the process of division stops at a certain stage and the constituents at that stage are paramaanus, which are indivisible.

There are different kinds of atoms—prithvi, ap, etc., and even all prithvi atoms, for instance, are not completely alike. A visesha (particularity) makes one atom different from the other. Jainism and Buddhism also developed atomism in their own ways, structurally different from that of the Nyaaya-Vaiseshika school. Also, atomism developed by Democritus and Leucippus in the Greek tradition was different. There the differences among objects arise not from inherent qualities of the different kinds of atoms, but from geometry, that is, from the structure and arrangement of the same kind of atoms.

> The primary source of the Vaiseshika system is the Vaiseshika-sootra of Kanaada (around 600 BCE). In Sanskrit, 'Kanaada' means one who eats grains or particles. More appropriately, kana may mean atom and Kanaada, which would mean atom-eater, was called so as he was the propounder of the atomic theory

Two primary atoms of the same kind form the dvayaanuka or the dyad. The dyad itself is different from the individual parts. Like the paramaanu, it is also infinitesimal and cannot be perceived by the senses. Three dvayaanukas form a trayaanuka (triad), also called a trasarenu. It has a finite magnitude and can be perceived by senses. The dust particles visible in a sunbeam coming through a small window hole are examples of triads. The magnitude of the triads is not due to the atoms, but because of the plurality of dyads. More than three dyads can also combine to form structures. For example, a tetrad is made of four dyads. It is out of the triads, tetrads, etc., that the whole of the material universe, including the bodies of living beings, is created. The dyads, triads, etc., and the gross structures formed out of them are not eternal. Only the atoms are. An object that possesses magnitude and is non-eternal can be formed out of non-eternal products only. Hence, the atoms cannot directly produce the triads, etc., and an intermediary like a dyad is necessary. Though the picture is only qualitative, the process of formation of gross objects here has some similarity with modern atoms combining to form molecules, which in turn form the gross objects.

The universe (samsara) is without a beginning and an end, and is ever-changing. At some stage, the world was in a state of dissolution (pralaya) when there were only paramaanus separated from one another. Due to an adrista (unseen) force, motion in the mind and atoms was initiated, eventually leading to the formation of the world. There will be dissolution again, when there are no gross objects but only paramaanus, and the formation of the world with the composites begins afresh. There is conceptual similarity with modern standard cosmology, where at the very beginning, the universe consisted of only the fundamental particles, all unbound, and no composites.

Need more data

It is unfortunate that the manufacturers of the two Covid-19 vaccines approved in India have entered into a debate on the superiority of their products. This has added to confusion among people. The authorities should not administer them until phase 3 trial data is available and the vaccines are foolproof.

R Donjeba, Nazareth

Leaders first

The green signal has been given for the Made in India vaccines. But certain physicians as well as politicians have spoken about the lack of data. To clear any doubts, it is my humble request that leaders including the PM and CMs should set an example by taking the vaccine first.

Cooperatives balm

Farmer cooperatives were tried as early as the 1950s but were not successful back then (Help farmers build viable cooperatives, Jan 5). Even the NDA has not pursued its own initiative to set up 10,000 FPOs. In the present scenario of failed negotiations, the Centre should offer an implementable format for cooperative farming. The Sunyukt Kisan Morcha should come up with its own draft by modifying the laws it wants repealed.

K Nehru Patnaik, Visakhapatnam

Unions too adamant

The farmers' unions are too adamant. Sama, Dana, Bheda and Dhanda should be used by the government to deal with the protests.

SK Ramesh, Bengaluru

Centre stubborn

The farmers' unrest in Delhi is intensifying rather than coming to an end. This is due to the stubborn attitude of the government. Anyhow, the stir should not be prolonged.

Learn from history

This is with reference to the opinion article We can't dwell in the past, but can we afford to ignore it? (Jan 4). While it is better to not correct the historical wrongs, we should nevertheless learn lessons from them. We should also be aware of attempts by certain vested interests, with the tacit support of vote bank politicians, to repeat the historical wrongs.

Remain vigilant

Life is slowly limping back towards normal. But the mutant variety, which is more contagious than the original Covid strain, is being reported in various parts of Kerala. Many people seem to think that everything is fine. But we must be vigilant and care has to be taken to ensure that we are free from infection.

Pandemic far from over

This is with reference to the editorial The trouble with fully opening cinemas (Jan 5). The TN move comes as the number of cases is dropping. But it is fraught with danger. The pandemic is far from over and we have to be on our guard owing to the new UK strain.

Hat-trick for Natarajan?

It is heartening to note that India's new bowling sensation T Natarajan has been included in the Test squad as a replacement for the injured Umesh Yadav. Natarajan could go on to make his Test debut at Sydney; if he does, he will become the first to earn the national cap in all formats in the same series, despite not figuring in any of the original squads.

Now, Bharat Biotech & SII pledge for smooth rollout of vaccines

After govt's nudge, both companies declare truce, say will work together to develop doses

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AFTER their much-publicised spat, Krishna Ella and Adar Poonawalla, head Bharat Biotech and Serum Institute of India respectively, issued a joint statement on Tuesday pledging their commitments towards a smooth rollout of Covid-19 vaccines in the country and the world.

In a joint statement, the two companies noted that the most important task in front of them was saving lives and livelihoods in India and globally. "We are fully aware of the importance of vaccines for the people and countries alike, we hereby communicate our joint pledge to provide global access for our vaccines," it said.

Sources said the statement came following a nudge from the top functionaries in the Union government. Covaxin by Bharat Biotech and Covishield by SII, which has made the vaccine after technology transfer by Oxford University-AstraZeneca, have been granted restricted emergency use by the Central Drugs Standards Control Organisation.

Poonawalla had said apart from his vaccine, vaccines by only Pfizer and Moderna had shown efficacy while other vaccines including Covaxin were only "safe, like water."

At a conference on Monday, Ella, without naming Poonawalla, said his company had carried out a 200% honest trial in the national interest, without any financial aid, and did not deserve the backlash.

"Now that two Covid-19 vaccines have been issued EUA in India, the focus is on manufacturing, supply and distribution, such that populations that need it the most receive high quality, safe and efficacious vaccines," the statement said.

It added: "Both companies respect the great work being carried out by each other and put behind us the miscommunication and misunderstanding caused during the past week."

On Tuesday, Poonawalla tweeted that there would be a statement clearing up the miscommunication.

Public participation is not a formality: Dissenting SC judge

KANU SARDA @ New Delhi

WITH the Supreme Court upholding the decision of the Central government to redevelop the Central Vista area of Lutyen's Delhi in a majority verdict of 2:1, the lone dissent judge highlighted several shortfalls in the process adopted by the government.

Justice Sanjiv Khanna dissented with the majority opinion on the aspects of public participation on the interpretation of the statutory provisions, failure to take prior approval of the Heritage Conservation Committee and the order passed by the Expert Appraisal Committee. He, however, agreed with the majority order on the aspects of Notice inviting Bid, the award of consultancy, and the order of the Urban Arts Commission, as a standalone and independent order.

He said public participation is not to be a mechanical exercise or formality and it must comply with the least and basic requirements so that it is fruitful and constructive.

"Thus, mere uploading of the gazette notification giving the present and the proposed land use with plot numbers was not sufficient compliance, but rather an exercise violating the express as well as implied stipulations, that is, necessity and requirement to make adequate and intelligible disclosure."

"The citizenry had the right to know intelligible details explaining the proposal to participate and express themselves, give suggestions and submit objections," penned Khanna.

While quashing the notification of modification/change of the land use dated March 28 2020, Khanna directed the Centre to put in the public domain on the web, adequate information along with drawings, layout plans, with explanatory memorandum etc. within a period of 7 days. Justice Khanna said the purpose of outsourcing the task to EAC is to have a proper evaluation on the basis of some objective criteria.

The grand Central Vista project is estimated to cost `20,000 crore | FILE

Central Vista project a case of misplaced priorities: Cong

NEW DELHI: The Congress said the ambitious Central Vista project is not a legal issue but a case of misplaced priorities of "an autocrat seeking to etch his name in the annals of history".

Describing it as a colossal waste of public money in the time of the pandemic, the party said: "The ₹13,450 crore project is not a legalistic issue but a case of misplaced priorities of a whimsical autocrat seeking to etch his name in the annals of history with cement and mortar," Congress chief spokesperson Randeep Surjewala wrote on Twitter.

Senior party leader Anand Sharma said: "We are living in strange times. No relief for migrant labourers, no justice for India''s farmers fighting for their rights in the bitter cold, pouring rain, tear gas and braving lathis. As we approach 'Ganatantra Diwas' need to reflect on the state of the Republic."

Sharma also expressed his displeasure over the "SC endorsement of government's misplaced priorities during the pandemic and clearing the Central vista project — an unnecessary and colossal waste of public money."

Surjewala said it is ironical that in the times of a pandemic and an economic recession, the authorities in Delhi have ₹14,000 crore for the project and ₹8,000 crore for buying aircraft for the prime minister.

"But the same BJP government imposes cuts of ₹37,530 crore in allowances of 113 lakh armed forces and central government employees and pensioners.

"Central Govt has always been sensitive to environmental concerns & will continue to adhere to the highest standards during the construction," Puri tweeted. ENS

Johnson cancels India visit as UK sees Covid spike

NEW DELHI: UK Prime Minister Boris Johnson on Tuesday spoke to Prime Minister Narendra Modi to express his regret over not being able to visit India as planned for the Republic Day due to the surge of Covid-19 cases in his country.

Johnson's call with Modi came a day after he addressed the nation in a televised address to plunge the country into a new stay-at-home lockdown as his medical chiefs warned that the National Health Service (NHS) was under threat of being overwhelmed by the rising infection rates.

"The Prime Minister spoke to Prime Minister Modi this morning, to express his regret that he will be unable to visit India later this month as planned. In light of the national lockdown announced last night, and the speed at which the new coronavirus variant is spreading, the PM said that it was important for him to remain in the UK so he can focus on the domestic response to the virus," a statement from 10 Downing Street stated.

It is still unclear if New Delhi will invite another chief guest for the Republic Day. In the past, on three occasions — 1952, 1953 and 1966 — the Republic Day Parade had proceeded without a foreign dignitary as the chief guest. Johnson would have been the sixth British leader to be the chief guest at this year's Republic Day celebrations. ENS

Scientists find air transmission of Covid-19 in hospitals, closed rooms

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

SCIENTISTS in India have found a prevalence of coronavirus in the air from hospitals and closed rooms occupied by infected patients, indicating that demarcation of hospital areas into Covid-19 and non-Covdid-19 areas has been a successful strategy to prevent cross infections.

The study by scientists at the CSIR-Centre for Cellular & Molecular Biology (CCMB) indicates that the chance of picking up the virus in the air is directly related to a number of positive cases in the room, their symptomatic status, and the duration of exposure.

To understand air transmission characteristics of Covid-19 and risks for healthcare professionals and visitors to hospitals, the CCMB analysed air samples collected from various enclosures at hospitals in Hyderabad and Mohali and performed closed room experiments with positive patients.

"We collected 64 air samples from Covid and non-Covid areas of various hospitals and 17 samples from closed rooms occupied by infected patients. Four samples from Covid care areas were positive — 2 with no obvious predilection towards ICU/non-ICU areas in the hospital samples," said authors of the study published in preprint server medRxiv.

They added that in the closed room experiments, where one or more Covid-19 patients spent a short duration of time, one sample — collected immediately after the departure of three symptomatic patients from the room — was positive.

"In neutral environmental conditions, the virus does not seem to spread farther away from the patients, especially if they are asymptomatic, giving an objective evidence for the effectiveness of physical distancing in curbing the spread of the epidemic," it added.

Initially, the transmission of Covid-19 was largely thought to be through contact and droplet spread. However, with studies reporting transmission among physically distanced individuals in closed spaces with air conditioning and the fact that, the viral spread could not be effectively curbed in spite of strict lockdowns in various countries of the world, raised the possibility of its airborne transmission.

'Covaxin data demonstrates strong immune response'

"THE data generated so far demonstrates a strong immune response (both antibody as well as T cell) and in-vitro viral neutralisation," the committee said, adding Bharat Biotech presented the safety and efficacy data from a non-human primate challenge study where the vaccine was found to be safe and effective.

"...after detailed deliberation, the committee recommended for grant of permission for restricted use in emergency situation in public interest as an abundant precaution, in clinical trial mode, to have more options for vaccinations especially in case of infection by mutant virus," the panel noted.

India is key for stability in Indo-Pacific region, says outgoing US envoy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Indo-Pacific region needs a kind of stability that does not threaten the sovereignty of other countries, outgoing US Ambassador to India Kenneth I Juster said on Tuesday.

"A strong and democratic India is an important partner to promote peace and prosperity. The Indo-Pacific is particularly significant for US-India relationship because it recognises the reality that India and Indian Ocean are inextricably tied to East Asia and Pacific," the US envoy said in his farewell address on Ambition and Achievement in the India-US Partnership.

Kenneth added that the Indo-Pacific region comprises some of the fastest and largest growing economies in the world.

"More than 50 per cent of international trade passes through its waters. The region is rich in natural resources and it is fast becoming the centre of gravity of the evolving international system. Indeed, the tectonic plates of that system have shifted, marked especially by the rise of China and more recently by the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic which has devastated health, the economy in the Indo-Pacific and elsewhere," Juster said.

> The concept of Indo-Pacific has been many years in the making. It is in the past four years that our countries have shown the ambition to turn it into reality
>
> Kenneth I Juster, US Ambassador to India

Without naming China and Pakistan, the US envoy said that it is unfortunate that some countries have resorted to military incursions while some have picked up suicide vests. Juster said that in the past four years, the US and India have shown the ambition to have a free and stable Indo-Pacific. "The concept of Indo-Pacific has been many years in the making. It is in the past four years that our countries have shown the ambition to turn it into reality," he said.

At the same time, the outgoing US ambassador mentioned that there remained "frictions and frustrations" in trade and investment ties with New Delhi. "But I would be less than candid if I did not note that there are also frictions and frustrations on the trade and investment front. Despite persistent efforts, we were unable to conclude even a small trade package," said Juster.

Parliament session likely from January 29, Budget on February 1

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Cabinet Committee on Parliamentary Affairs (CCPA) on Tuesday recommended convening of the Budget session of Parliament from January 29. The Union Budget is proposed to be presented in the Lok Sabha on February 1.

Sources said the CCPA, in its meeting, gave its nod to the proposal to recommend the convening of the Budget session in two halves — the first half proposed to commence from January 29 to February 15. The second half, after a recess, from March 8 to April 8. A day before the presentation of the annual Budget, the government will table the Economic Survey in both the Houses.

The government had earlier decided to not recommend convening of the Winter session on account of the Covid-19 pandemic, with the number of positive cases rising in the national capital during November-December. The Monsoon session, too, had been adjourned sine die prematurely after a number of the MPs tested positive for the Covid-19. However, the government was able to push a number of legislative business in the Monsoon session, which was linked to the Aatmanirbhar package unveiled by the Centre to deal with the economic situations to deal with the business downturn because of the extended lockdowns. Mobile tower attacks: Govt gets HC notice

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE Punjab and Haryana High Court on Tuesday issued notices to the Punjab and Union governments on a plea filed by Reliance Jio Infocomm Limited (RJIL) seeking action against miscreants damaging its telecom infrastructure and forcibly closing its stores.

Justice Sudhir Mittal issued notice of motion to the stakeholders and asked them to file their response on January 8.

In its petition, the RJIL had said that over 1,500 telecom towers were damaged or rendered inoperative by miscreants crippling its mobile network in Punjab. Responding to the contentions, Punjab Advocate General Atul Nanda submitted the petitioner was itself admitting action for protection of its assets and added that the state has deployed 1019 patrolling parties in 27 districts and appointed 22 nodal officers to prevent further damage. He added that 1,300 towers are functioning.

The firm had sought directions for probe into the "well-orchestrated" and "sustained disinformation campaign" being carried out by vested interests and miscreants. Subscribers were compelled to port to other networks and the vandalism has also endangered lives of its employees, it said.

Commanders' meet unlikely soon as India, China refuse to budge

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE next India-China Corps Commanders meeting is unlikely to take place soon as both sides are sticking to their positions regarding deployments and disengagement of troops along the various standoff points in eastern Ladakh.

India and China have held eight rounds of the Corps Commander talks, with the last one taking place at Chushul on November 6. At the 20th meeting of the Working Mechanism for Consultation and Coordination on India-China Border Affairs on December 18, the two neighbours had agreed to hold another round of talks for taking forward the process of disengagement on the LAC.

"(But) there is no common ground on the issues to hold the meeting. We are in favour of the option to resolve things through discussions, but the Chinese side will have to maintain status quo as was in April (last year)," said a senior Army officer.

While China has been pressing for discussing troop withdrawal from the south bank of Pangong Tso first and other friction areas later, India is firm on discussing all the contentious areas of Ladakh simultaneously.

Temperature has plummeted to around minus 40° C in the remote region making movements restricted, but both sides are maintaining regular contact. "The movement from both sides has ceased," the officer said. Troops of the two countries along with military support of armoured vehicles are deployed in eastern Ladakh since the Galwan clash.

UP VILLAGE FINDS UNIQUE WAY TO EVOLVE POLL CONSENSUS

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

A non-descript village in Mainpuri district of central UP has set a unique precedent of evolving consensus through internal polls to select a candidate for village panchayat head post in the upcoming polls. The move was aimed at avoiding bad blood that such polls cause.

This unique idea was floated by the elders of Aurandh, also known as the village of armymen as every house here has a person in the armed forces. "We floated the idea to avert political rivalries, which once sparked during the polls, continues for generations," says Ram Autar Singh Yadav of Aurandh village.

Following the decision to conduct internal polls to get a consensus candidate, all the modalities were followed to perfection to complete the exercise. Ballot papers were printed, five polling booths were set up, elderly and non-controversial persons of the village played the Returning Officer and poll observers. People cast their votes in accordance to village voters list.

The gram panchayat comprising Aurandh and a cluster of 10 other small villages (majras) have a total of 6,300 registered voters. In this gram panchayat, Aurandh is the biggest village with 1,936 voters.

In the last 2015 panchayat election, six persons contested for village panchayat chief 's post from Aurandh. "It had led to lobbying, enmity and division of votes. Consequently, to avoid that situation, the village elders decided to choose one candidate liked by all to contest the poll," says Krishna Pal, a villager.

The villagers claim that to conduct the internal polls a seven-member committee was set up. This committee made all the arrangements. There were three contenders. The ballot papers comprising the names of all the three were printed by the committee. The village was divided into five wards and five booths for voting were set up.

The polling commenced at 7 am and concluded at 1 pm on Monday. Of the 1,936 voters, 1,138 exercised their vote. The village temple was converted into the counting centre. The counting of votes was conducted in the presence of the representative of all the three candidates. After the counting, Akhand Pratap was declared winner as he had secured 724 of the total votes polled.

Vigil up as bird flu fells migratory, poultry fowls

Himachal Pradesh bans sale of poultry products in many areas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

OFFICIALS are on a high alert after lakhs of poultry and migrant birds died due to two strains of bird flu – H5N1 and H5N8 – across Haryana, Himachal Pradesh, Rajasthan, and Madhya Pradesh in the past one month.

The Bhopal-based National Institute of High-Security Animal Diseases (NIHSAD) confirmed bird flu in the crow carcasses sent from Rajasthan's Jhalawar district, while the Jalandhar-based Regional Disease Diagnostic Laboratory (RDDL) has rushed a team to collect samples from Barwala belt of Haryana, where over four lakh poultry bird deaths have been reported dead in the past one month.

Control rooms in Rajasthan

After the Jhalawar samples returned positive, all national parks and forests in Rajasthan were put on high alert. Crows have formed a majority of the casualties in the state. At least half a dozen districts have reported bird deaths since the first case was confirmed on December 31, with Kota and Jodhpur accounting for the highest numbers. Chief Wildlife Warden of Rajasthan ML Meena said that vigil at wildlife sanctuaries, national parks, forests, and the wetlands housing migratory birds has been mounted. The thriving poultry industry in the state is under the continuous monitoring. "Carcasses of birds are being disposed of carefully," he said.

Haryana situation

Regional Disease Diagnostic Laboratory (RDDL) in-charge Dr Mohinder Pal said they have rushed a team to Barwala to collect samples of the birds after the first set could not return conclusive reports.

Tough measures in HP

After the RDDL, Palampur Veterinary College, and the NIHSAD told the Himachal Pradesh government that the death of the 2,500-odd migratory birds is attributable to avian flu, authorities declared one-km area from the Pong lake as red zone to contain the spread. Sale of poultry products has been banned in Dehra, Jawali, Fatehpur, and Indora town of Kangra. After the outbreak, Punjab government too sounded an alert in the wetlands of Harike Pattan in Tarn Taran, Keshopur Chhamb in Gurdaspur, Nangal and Rupnagar wetlands.

Confirmed cases in MP

The NIHSAD confirmed H5N8 strain in the crow carcasses from Indore and Mandsaur. Like Rajasthan, crows formed a majority of the casualties from the state. A dedicated control room has been established in Indore. Safety equipment, including PPE kits, anti-retroviral drugs, and disinfectants are being made available to the frontline workers.

NSA invoked in crematorium mishap

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

CHIEF Minister Yogi Adityanath on Tuesday issued directives to authorities to invoke National Security Act (NSA) against all those responsible for the roof collapse at Muradnagar crematorium, resulting in the death of 25 people.

Contractor Ajay Tyagi, the main accused in the case, was arrested past Monday midnight. With Tyagi's arrest, the number of persons arrested so far has gone to four.

On Monday, three persons, including Executive Officer of Muradnagar Municipal Board Niharika Singh Chauhan, Junior Engineer Chandrapal Singh, and supervisor Ashish were taken into custody in connection with the mishap.

In a related development, the chief minister increased the exgratia amount to be given to the next of kin to ₹10 lakh, also promising a house to the homeless heirs. The chief minister also ordered the district administration of Ghaziabad and Municipal Board of Muradnagar to black list the contractor who had made the roof of the shed. A notice was issued to the Ghaziabad DM and Divisional Commissioner to explain the lapses despite the clear cut orders making physical verification by authorities of new constructions worth above ₹50 lakh mandatory. The orders in this connection were issued by the state government in September.

"Both the officials have been asked to explain as how the lapses occurred despite firm orders for physical verification of new constructions were in place. More heads are likely to roll in connection with the Muradnagar mishap," said a highly placed source.

Contractor Ajay Tyagi, who had constructed the shed at the cremation ground at a cost of ₹55-60 lakh just two months ago, was arrested by the Ghaziabad police late in the night following the announcement of a reward of ₹25,000 on his arrest. The shed at the cremation ground was thrown open for the public just a fortnight ago. On Monday, a junior engineer was among three persons arrested by the police for the accident.

On January 2, the court of chief judicial magistrate had rejected the bail plea of the comedian, Yadav and three others. "The meeting has been arranged by a third party such that Patil can get an unbiased view and report it to the Congress high command," the source said.

Pranab's book: Even primary objectives of NaMo's DeMo never met

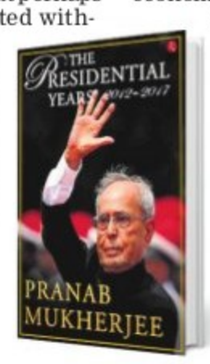
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE intent of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's demonetisation was good but its primary objectives were not met even after years of its implementation, according to former president Pranab Mukherjee.

The PM did not give him the heads-up and he came to know about the note ban through TV like the rest of the country, revealed Mukherjee, who passed away on August 31, 2020.

The fourth volume of his autobiography The Presidential Years: 2012-2017 was released on Tuesday by publisher Rupa Publications.

"It is difficult to assess the exact impact of demonetisation, close to four years after it was implemented. But perhaps one thing can be stated without fear of contradiction: the multiple objectives of the decision of demonetisation... to bring back black money, paralyse the operation of the black economy and facilitate a cashless society, etc, have not been met," he wrote.



Terming the decision was in line with Modi's style of making dramatic announcements, Mukherjee said the criticism that followed was only natural.

"Demonetisation could not have been done with prior consultation because the suddenness and surprise, necessary for such announcements, would have been lost after such a process, " he wrote.

Mukherjee also noted that in the early 1970s, he had proposed demonetisation after the successful implementation of the Voluntary Disclosure of Income and Wealth Ordinance, 1975 but the then PM Indira Gandhi turned it down.

"Indira Gandhi did not accept my suggestion, pointing out that a large part of the economy was not yet fully monetised and that a substantial part of it was in the informal sector. She argued it would be imprudent to shake the faith of people in currency notes. After all, currency notes issued by the Reserve Bank of India represent the commitment of a sovereign government," he added in his memoirs.

Shah's tough poser to Maha unit over poor outing

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE central BJP leadership has sought a detailed report from the Maharashtra unit for its dismal show in recent the Graduate and Teacher State Legislative Council elections.

Out of the six state legislative council seats, BJP bagged only one; Maha Vikas Aghadi secured four and one went to an independent candidate.

According to sources, senior BJP leader Ashish Shelar was asked to submit the report on party's poor outing in Nagpur and Amarawati, while former minister Chandrashekhar Bawankule was asked to submit report on Marathawada. BJP MLA Ravindra Chavan has been tasked with submitting a report on Pune region.

Highly-placed source in BJP said, "The central BJP leadership, particularly Amit Shah, expressed displeasure over the performance of the Maharashtra BJP in Graduate and Teacher Legislative Council election and sought a detailed feedback report."

A miffed Shah is learnt to have asked the Maharashtra unit that at a time the party was faring well across India, why has it started lagging in Maharashtra.

"Shah was not happy with the Maharashtra unit's performance. He hinted that if there is no improvement, then major restructuring may happen," said a source.

The BJP lost the Nagpur seat to Congress after a long gap of 58 years, while its Pune seat fell into the kitty of NCP. Nagpur seat was once represented by central minister Nitin Gadkari, and Gangadhar Fadnavis, father of former CM Devendra Fadnavis. Pune seat was represented by BJP state president Chandrakant Patil and central minister Prakash Javdekar.

Laxmi Ratan Shukla quits Didi team

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

ATTRITION continued in Mamata Banerjee's cabinet, with Sports Minister Laxmi Ratan Shukla stepping down on Tuesday. Shukla also resigned as the Trinamool Congress's Howrah district president, but is likely to continue as the MLA.

While political circles were busy assessing the impact of Shukla's withdrawal, coming as it does within a month of Mamata's once trusted lieutenant Suvendu Adhikari's BJP switch, the Bengal chief minister said, "He is a nice boy. There is no scope for political rumors over this issue. He told me that he wanted to concentrate on sports and that is why he stepped down. He said he would continue as the MLA."

However, BJP state president Dilip Ghosh said the TMC was losing people by attacking us. "The split in TMC has already begun," he said. Left Front leader Sujan Chakraborty echoed Ghosh while saying, "The chief minister should understand that her colleagues are no longer relying on her."

Union minister Babul Supriyo sent feelers to Shukla, saying BJP was ready to accept him, if he wanted to join the party.

Now, visit Kamakhya without Covid-19 report

Fishing at Billabong continues despite prohibitory orders

Community fishing has continued at Deepor Beel (or Billabong) on the outskirts of Guwahati in defiance of prohibitory orders under Section 144 of the CrPC in and around the Deepor Beel Wildlife Sanctuary till January 31. The orders were issued following concerns raised by forest officials who said such activities are illegal under the Wildlife (Protection) Act, 1972. The wetland was declared a Ramsar Site in 2002 by the Ramsar Convention, so conservation measures can be undertaken based on its biological and environmental importance. It is considered as one of the largest water bodies in the Brahmaputra Valley of Lower Assam. Thousands of migratory birds arrive here during winter every year.

Govt draws praise for fair conduct of APSC exam

The state's BJP-led government has drawn praise for fair conduct of the Combined Competitive Exams by Assam Public Service Commission (APSC). Bikram Chasha, who too cracked it and belongs to the Tea Tribe community, swore before Chief Minister Sarbananda Sonowal that he will never involve himself in corrupt practices. Previously, the APSC used to be in the news for all the wrong reasons. Its former chairman Rakesh Kumar Paul is languishing in jail after being arrested in a cash-for-job scam.

Biden's grip at stake in Georgia runoff races

Crucial Senate polls will determine shape of Democrat's presidency

ATLANTA

GEORGIA voters are deciding the balance of power in Congress in a pair of high-stakes Senate runoff elections that will help determine President-elect Joe Biden's ability to enact what could be the most progressive governing agenda in generations.

Republicans are unified against Biden's plans for health care, environmental protection and civil rights, but some fear that outgoing President Donald Trump's brazen attempts to undermine the integrity of the nation's voting systems may discourage voters in Georgia.

At a rally in northwest Georgia on the eve of Tuesday's runoffs, Trump repeatedly declared that the Nov elections were plagued by fraud that Republican officials, including his former attorney general and Georgia's elections chief, say did not occur. At the same time, Trump encouraged his supporters to show up for Georgia's Tuesday contests.

"You've got to swarm it tomorrow," Trump told cheering supporters, downplaying the threat of fraud.

Democrats must win both of the state's Senate elections to gain the Senate majority. In that scenario, the Senate would be equally divided 50-50 with Vice President-elect Kamala Harris serving as the tie-breaker for Democrats.

The Democrats secured a narrow House majority and the White House during November's general election.

Georgia's January elections, necessary because no Senate candidates received a majority of the general-election votes, have been unique for many reasons, not least because the contenders essentially ran as teams, even campaigning together sometimes.

One contest features Democrat Raphael Warnock, who serves as the senior pastor of the Atlanta church where slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. grew up and preached. The 51-year-old Warnock was raised in public housing and spent most of his adult life preaching in Baptist churches.

Warnock is facing Republican Senator Kelly Loeffler, a 50-year-old former businesswoman who was appointed to the Senate less than a year ago by the state's Republican governor. She is only the second woman to represent Georgia in the Senate, although race has emerged as a campaign focus far more than gender. Loeffler and her allies have seized on some snippets of Warnock's sermons at the historic Black church to cast him as extreme.

The other election pits 71-year-old former business executive David Perdue, who held the Senate seat until his term officially expired on Sunday, against Democrat Jon Ossoff, a former congressional aide and journalist. At just 33 years old, Ossoff would be the Senate's youngest member if elected. He first rose to prominence in 2017 during an unsuccessful House election bid.

Even a closely divided Democratic Senate wouldn't guarantee Biden what he wants, given chamber rules that require 60 votes to move most major legislation. AP

NYSE nixes plans to delist 3 China phone carriers

BEIJING

THE New York Stock Exchange says it is withdrawing plans to remove shares of three Chinese state-owned phone carriers under an order by Donald Trump.

The exchange cited "further consultation" with US regulators but gave no other details of its decision in a notice issued late Monday.

The NYSE earlier announced plans to remove China Telecom Corp. Ltd., China Mobile Ltd. and China Unicom Hong Kong Ltd. after Trump's order in Nov barring Americans from investing in securities issued by companies deemed to be linked to the Chinese military.

Hong Kong-traded shares in the three companies surged Tuesday. China Telecom rose 5.7%, China Mobile jumped 5.5% and China Unicom surged 6.7%. Shares in all three have fallen recently.

The Chinese government has accused Washington of misusing national security as an excuse to hamper competition and has warned that Trump's order would hurt US and other investors worldwide. Political analysts expect little change in policy under Joe Biden due to widespread frustration with China's trade and human rights records and accusations of spying and technology theft.

VIRUS VARIANT

England's lockdown could last till March

LONDON

A US lawmaker Britain toughened its coronavirus restrictions on Tuesday, with England and Scotland going into another full lockdown, as a new variant spreads.

Surging numbers of positive cases, and fears the a new variant of the virus is running out of control, prompted tougher action, which includes shutting schools, and a ban on leaving home except for essential shopping, medical reasons or exercise.

A total of 58,784 people tested positive in the UK on Monday, with cases in the last seven days up 50 percent on the previous week.

Overall, Britain has been among the worst hit in the world by the outbreak, with some 2.7 million cases and more than 75,000 deaths.

Cabinet Office minister Michael Gove told Sky News on Tuesday he could not say precisely when the lockdown would be lifted, warning of "very, very difficult weeks" ahead.

The measures will be reviewed from February 15, he said, but the government cannot "predict with certainty" whether they will be lifted then. "I think it is right to say that as we enter March, we should be able to lift some of these restrictions but not necessarily all," he added. AFP

Gulf Arab leaders sign declaration to heal Qatar rift

AL-ULA

Gulf Arab leaders signed a declaration Tuesday in Saudi Arabia to mark a new page in relations following the kingdom's decision to end a 3 1/2-year embargo of Qatar, easing a rift that deeply divided regional US security allies and frayed social ties across the interconnected Arabian Peninsula.

The Saudi decision to open its airspace and borders to Qatar was the first major step toward ending the diplomatic crisis that began in 2017, just as the Trump administration was raising pressure on Iran. The Saudi move was announced Monday night, on the eve of the gathering of Gulf Arab leaders in Saudi Arabia's ancient desert city of Al-Ula.

Saudi King Salman bin Abdulaziz (L) and Qatar's Emir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani | AFP

It was unclear what, if any, significant concessions Qatar had made before the summit. Still, an immediate shift in tone was palpable as one of Qatar's Al Jazeera Arabic news Twitter accounts shared photos of the Riyadh and Abu Dhabi skylines on Tuesday following years of critical coverage.

The diplomatic breakthrough followed a final push by the outgoing Trump administration and Kuwait to mediate the dispute. It also came as Saudi Arabia seeks to unify Arab ranks ahead of the incoming administration of Joe Biden, which is expected to take a firmer stand toward the kingdom and re-engage with Iran.

Dania Thafer, executive director of Gulf International Forum, said Saudi Arabia is concerned about whether Biden will draw down the US military presence in the Persian Gulf that had expanded under President Donald Trump and enter back into nuclear negotiations with Iran.

"If that is the case, then the (Arab) states need to respond with a regional solution to security. And I think resolving the Gulf crisis is one step forward towards that direction," she said. AP

Chinese ex-banker to be executed

BEIJING

The former chairman of one of China's largest state-controlled asset management firms was sentenced to death Tuesday for soliciting $260 million in bribes, corruption, and also bigamy. Lai Xiaomin, a former Communist Party member, gave a detailed confession on a state broadcaster last Jan, which showed footage of safes and cabinets stuffed with cash in a Beijing apartment allegedly belonging to him. The former chairman of the Hong Kong-listed China Huarong Asset Management Co. -- a distressed debt group -- was also found guilty of bigamy after living with a woman "as man and wife for long periods" outside of his marriage and fathering illegitimate children. Huarong is one of four companies set up in 1999 to help clean up bad debt piles choking China's banking system, and the company later expanded into investment, loan and property businesses. Lai's downfall began in April 2018 as investigators removed him from his job.

Rebuild Hindu temple: Pak SC after mob attack

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN'S Supreme Court on Tuesday ordered the Evacuee Property Trust Board (EPTB) to start reconstruction of a century-old Hindu temple that was vandalised and set on fire by a mob of 1,500 Muslims in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province last week, saying the attack has caused "international embarrassment" to the country.

The apex court, which took notice of the attack and ordered the local authorities to appear before the court on January 5, also directed the board to submit in court details of all functional and non-functional temples and gurdwaras across Pakistan, Dawn newspaper reported.

The attack on the temple in Terri village in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa's (KP) Karak district on Wednesday was by members of the Jamiat Ulema-e-Islam party (Fazal ur Rehman group).

During the hearing on Tuesday, a three-member bench headed by Chief Justice Gulzar Ahmed also directed the EPTB to clear encroachments from temples across the country and take action against officials involved in the encroachments. The EPTB is a statutory board that manages religious properties and shrines of Hindus and Sikhs who had migrated to India following the partition.

Justice Ijazul Ahsan then questioned the police chief on how the attack could have happened when there was a police check post next to the temple. PTI

Lahore HC bans virginity tests on rape victims

A court in Pakistan's most populous province on Monday outlawed virginity tests on rape victims -- a longstanding practice in the country used to assess a woman's so-called honour. Critics of the tests, including an invasive "two-finger test", had filed petitions in the eastern city of Lahore in a bid to have them outlawed. The WHO has previously said that there is no scientific merit to the examinations and considers them a human rights violation. Declaring them illegal, Lahore High Court said a virginity test "offends the personal dignity of the female victim and therefore is against the right to life and right to dignity". Proponents of virginity tests claim they can assess a woman's sexual history, with the results often used to discredit rape victims. In much of Pakistani society, rape victims face social stigma.

Minister admits police can access contact tracing data

Singapore's Foreign Minister Vivian Balakrishan has admitted in parliament that data collected for contact-tracing can be accessed by police despite earlier assurances it would only be used to fight the coronavirus, sparking privacy concerns. The city-state has a programme called "TraceTogether" for tracking close contacts of Covid-19 patients, that works via both a phone app and a dongle. Take-up was initially slow due to privacy worries but rose to almost 80% of residents after government assurances and a decision to make its use mandatory for accessing some places like malls.

THAILAND

Travel curbs imposed after 527 fresh cases

Thailand reported 527 new coronavirus cases, most of them migrant workers who already were isolated, and the government said it was tightening movements of people around the country. Thailand has been struggling with a sudden virus surge after months of hardly any cases of domestic transmission. Field hospitals were being set up in parts of five provinces with many cases. Large parts of the country, including the capital Bangkok, are under various lockdown restrictions, and the government said it will additionally restrict travel between virus-hit provinces to goods, cargo and necessary travel, and set up checkpoints on some roads. Of the new cases confirmed Tuesday, 439 were migrants, 82 were local transmissions and six were in quarantined travelers, the authorities said.

France forces deadbeat dads to pay for child support

LONDON

FRANCE is launching a new government service empowered to take money directly from the bank accounts of parents who fail to pay for child support, aiming to help many families — the vast majority of whom are headed by single mothers — emerge from precarious financial situations.

President Emmanuel Macron denounced in a tweet unpaid child support as "an unbearable situation for hundreds of thousands of single parents," before visiting a benefits agency Tuesday in Tours, in central France, which is providing the new service.

"Thank you" for the measure, a single mother of three told Macron, detailing at length her personal situation, involving domestic violence and harassment from her ex-husband and deep financial difficulties. "That's a great relief," she said. The mothers who spoke with Macron didn't provide their names due to privacy. AP

UK firms to get grant of £9K per property

Chancellor of the Exchequer Rishi Sunak launched an extra £4.6-billion package for virus-battered businesses. He announced grants for retail, hospitality and leisure businesses worth up to £9,000 per property to help businesses through the next several months. Other impacted firms would share £594 million. The UK government has already pumped out billions of pounds in support since early 2020. At the heart of the support is the furlough scheme paying the bulk of private sector wages.

Teen teaches taekwondo in anti-child marriage campaign

HARARE

IN Zimbabwe, where girls as young as 10 are forced to marry due to poverty or traditional and religious practices, a teenage taekwondo enthusiast is using the sport to give girls in an impoverished community a fighting chance at life.

"Not many people do taekwondo here, so it's fascinating for the girls, both married and single. I use it to get their attention," said 17-year old Natsiraishe Maritsa, a martial arts fan since the age of 5 who is now using taekwondo to rally young girls and mothers to join hands and fight child marriage.

Children as young as four and some of Natsiraishe's former schoolmates who are now married, line up on the tiny dusty yard outside her parents' home in the poor Epworth settlement.

They enthusiastically follow her instructions to stretch, kick, strike, punch and spar. After class, they talk about the dangers of child marriage. Holding their babies, the recently married girls took the lead.

Natsiraishe Maritsa (2nd R) goes through taekwondo kicking drills with young boys and girls in the Epworth settlement, 15 kms southeast of Harare | AP

One after the other, they narrated how their marriages have turned into bondage, including verbal and physical abuse, marital rape, pregnancy-related health complications, and being hungry.

In the economically struggling African nation, an estimated 30% of girls are married before reaching 18, according to the United Nations Children's Fund.

Maritsa is hoping to increase the confidence of both the married and single girls through the martial arts lessons and the discussions that follow. AP

Budget relief likely for pensioners

Tax rebates on health insurance may be hiked, higher outlays for social security schemes

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ New Delhi

THE government is planning to give some relief for pensioners and increase spending on social security schemes in the Union Budget set to be presented by finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman on February 1.

"While there is limited headroom for tax cuts, given the Covid-19 pandemic and financial insecurities arising out of it, some relief will be there for the vulnerable sections, especially the pensioners and senior citizens. The government is considering giving them some relief," a senior official in the finance ministry said.

In the pre-budget consultation, the PFRDA had already recommended relaxing some clauses in the NPS scheme and to increase the tax rebate for pensioners.

Ministry sources confirmed that the revenue department is considering some of these recommendations in the budget. There will also be increased budgetary outlays under other social security schemes. Along with these measures, the budget is likely to enhance the tax rebate for health covers under existing tax laws in order to boost the spending on health insurance. The finance minister has already hinted that post-Covid, the government will focus more on supporting the healthcare sector post corona.

The budget is crucial this year in many ways, especially as India remains one of the worst hit economies during Covid-19, leaving many people out of the social safety net, and with GDP expected to contract by 7.5 per cent by the government's own estimates.

Experts have already suggested that the government needs to boost support to the salaried class. Job losses have become more visible with the outbreak of the pandemic and even those who have their jobs intact were hit by salary cuts and discontinuation of various allowances. "It is not possible to give relief to all but the government will be sensitive to their needs," the official pointed out.

The Cabinet Committee on Parliamentary Affairs has recommended that the Budget session be held from January 29-February 15 and from March 8-April 8.

RBI rolls out stricter norms for high-value transactions

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has decided to roll out the Legal Entity Identifier (LEI) system from April 1 for transactions of ₹50 crore and above undertaken by entities (non-individuals) through the central bank-run Centralised Payment Systems. LEI is a 20-digit number used to uniquely identify parties to financial transactions across the world. It was conceived as a way of improving the quality and accuracy of financial data systems for better risk management post the 2008 financial crisis.

It has now been decided to introduce the LEI system for all payment transactions of value ₹50 crore and above undertaken by entities (non-individuals) using CPS — Reserve Bank of India

In preparation for the wider introduction of LEI across all payment transactions, the banking regulator has asked member banks participating in Real Time Gross Settlement (RTGS) and National Electronic Funds Transfer (NEFT) to advise entities who undertake large value transactions to obtain an LEI in time, if they do not have one already.

Once the system is implemented, member banks should include remitter and beneficiary LEI information in RTGS and NEFT payment messages. Further, they will have to maintain records of all transactions of ₹50 crore and above through RTGS and NEFT. India,

An LEI can be obtained from Legal Entity Identifier India Ltd. (LEIL), which is also recognised as an issuer of LEI by the Reserve Bank under the Payment and Settlement Systems Act, 2007. LEI has already been introduced by the Reserve Bank in a phased manner for participants in the over the counter (OTC) derivative and non-derivative markets. Large corporate borrowers also require the identifier.

Digital payment infra boost

Separately, the RBI on Tuesday also announced operational guidelines for the Payments Infrastructure Development Fund (PIDF) Scheme, in a bid to encourage the deployment of digital payment infrastructure in tier-3 to tier-6 centres.

The fund will be used to subsidise banks and non-banks for payment infrastructure deployment and would be contingent upon achieving specific targets. The central bank has constituted an advisory council under the chairmanship of B P Kanungo, a deputy governor, to manage the fund.

The PIDF will be operational for a period of three years from January 1, 2021, and may be extended for two more years depending upon the progress. At present, the fund has a corpus of ₹345 crore, of which ₹250 crore was contributed by RBI.

V-SHAPED RECOVERY CAUSE FOR OPTIMISM: FINMIN

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S successful management of the spread of Covid-19 combined with the "sustained improvement in high frequency indicators and V-shaped recovery" as well as the approval of the long-awaited Covid-19 vaccine, "gives strength to optimism on both health and economic fronts," said the finance ministry on Tuesday in its Monthly Economic Review for December. These factors "distinguish Indian economy as one riding against the Covid-wave," the report claimed.

Downside risks, however, remain due to the spread of a new variant from the UK and fatigue from social distancing guidelines, the Ministry noted. The report said that a sustained spurt in commercial and industrial activity was corroborated by continued growth in manufacturing, power demand, improvement in E-way bills generated and highway toll collection rising above pre-COVID levels. GST collections also touched record highs in December.

The ministry also picked out the agricultural sector as one which "remains the bright spot of Indian economy", with a growth of 2.9 per cent in winter sowing, accelerating tractor sales, and increase in reservoirs storage at 122 per cent over the decade's average. However, other analysts point out that the country's unemployment rate remains high—at 9.3 per cent according to CMIE estimates. The lack of jobs seemed to be corroborated by the finance ministry report which said that demand for jobs under the MGNREGS has surged 56.8 per cent in December.

Because of the outsized impact of vegetable prices, we expect headline inflation to fall sharply to 4.9 per cent in December over the previous year

Sonal Varma and Aurodeep Nandi, India Economists, Nomura

Headline inflation declines as vegetable prices begin easing

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AFTER facing unseasonal increases since September, vegetable prices finally declined in December indicating that retail inflation may ease further, according to ratings agency Nomura.

Sudden hikes beginning September had led to prices rising by 40.6 per cent, but December has seen a correction. The month saw a 19.2 per cent sequential contraction during the month. Vegetable inflation had come in at 15.63 per cent in November and 22.5 per cent in October. Outside vegetables, the picture remains mixed, although the pace of food inflation has tapered off. Prices of pulses and cereals, which have the highest weightage among food and beverages in the Consumer Price Index, fell on a monthly basis, while edible oils, tea, and eggs picked up, Nomura said. "Because of the outsized impact of vegetable prices, we expect headline inflation to fall sharply to 4.9 per cent in December over the previous year (data due on 12 January) versus 6.9 per cent in November," noted Sonal Varma and Aurodeep Nandi, India Economists at Nomura. In the short term, lower food price inflation, lagged effects of muted demand, and base effects should drive inflation lower, while for 2021, Nomura said it remains less optimistic since "the 'golden window' of growth-induced disinflation is fast closing".

Core inflation continues to be dominated by supply-side pressures, and on aggregate, has been largely unmoved by the disinflationary impact of the growth slowdown. The agency added that rising input costs, steadily firming demand, and a gradual return of pricing power suggest sticky core inflation, which should keep headline inflation above the RBI's 4 per cent target in 2021. Due to above-target inflation levels, the RBI is expected to continue with its status quo on policy rates this year despite some wiggle room.

Internet shutdowns cost India $2.8 bn in 2020: Report

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA continued to lead the world in restricting internet access to its citizens—with over 75 instances of internet shutdowns in 2020, according to the Global Cost of Internet Shutdowns report released by Top10VPN. These shutdowns are estimated to have cost the country's economy $2.8 billion last year, higher than any other nation in the world.

"We calculated over 27,000 hours of internet shutdowns around the world in 2020 to have cost the global economy $4.01 billion. This represents a 50 per cent decrease in impact compared to $8.05 billion in 2019," said the report. India's losses, however, more than doubled compared to 2019 with 1,655 hours of blackouts and 7,272 hours of bandwidth throttling observed here last year.

"The majority of these short blackouts were highly-targeted, affecting groups of villages or individual city districts, and so were not included in this report, which focuses on larger region-wide shutdowns. The true economic cost is therefore likely to be even higher than the $2.8 billion we have calculated," said the report.

It added that in Kashmir, authorities lifted restrictions in March 2020, seven months after the government had scrapped its autonomous status. However, authorities continued to severely throttle internet speeds after the lifting of the ban, with citizens only able to access 2G connections.

The restrictions have negatively impacted the distribution of medicine, businesses and schools, the report said. After India, Belarus was most impacted by such actions.

ASIANOMICS

SINGAPORE

2020 GDP CONTRACTION SMALLER THAN FEARED

Singapore's economy contracted less-than-expected in 2020 as activity picked up further in Q4 following the easing of Covid-related restrictions, official data showed. The Southeast Asian economy contracted by 5.8% in 2020 compared to the previous year, better than the official forecast for an annual contraction of 6-6.5%. In Q4, the economy shrank 3.8%, but the number was an improvement over the revised 5.6% y-o-y contraction seen in Q3. The strong performance was due to the phased resumption in activities, as well as the rebound in activity in major sectors as they emerged from the lockdown. The government expects to return to growth this year as it has spent about 100 billion Singapore dollars on virus-related relief.

JAPAN

STATE OF EMERGENCY SEEN TRIGGERING CONTRACTION

Japan's likely decision to declare a state of emergency in Tokyo may trigger a contraction in January-March, according to news reports. This could spark fresh trouble for policymakers, who are struggling to cushion the blow to the economy from the pandemic. The world's third-largest economy rebounded sharply in Q3, 2020 from a record April-June slump caused by the pandemic, heightening expectations of a moderate recovery. But such hopes were dashed by fresh Covid-19 infections forcing the government to consider imposing an emergency that could last about a month. While the restrictions will be far less sweeping than those imposed during last year's nationwide state of emergency, analysts expect the measures to inflict seveve damage on consumption. Esimates forecast that the economy will shrink in Q1.

CHINA

BANKING WATCHDOG TO PROMOTE RURAL BANK MERGERS

China's top banking watchdog said it would encourage founders of rural banks to boost capital, and would promote mergers and acquisitions in the sector in order to cut financial risks. In an online notice, China's Banking and Insurance Regulatory Commission also said it would encourage eligible investors, including local companies and non-bank financial institutions, to acquire and inject capital into rural banks. To reduce financial risks in the sector, fouders of rural banks will be allowed to increase capital and stakes in those lenders and dispose of NPAs. For some high-risk rural lenders, local regulators are allowed to explore the option of turning them into branches of state-owned banks or joint-stock banks operating in the region. China had a total of 1,641 rural banks at the end of September.

New draft bill set to create headwinds for cigarette firms

SESA SEN @ New Delhi

AFTER a bumpy ride through the early months of the Covid-19 pandemic, the tobacco business has been normalising with the gradual reopening of economic activities. While volumes have improved sequentially, localised lockdowns have resulted in slow recovery in some geographies. For instance, ITC's revenue from the cigarette business dipped 3.9 per cent in the second quarter (Q2 FY21) and volumes were down 12 per cent. Analysts, however, see more potential headwinds this year driven by a new bill proposed by the Union health ministry.

Reports suggest that the draft Cigarettes and Other Tobacco Products (Prohibition of Advertisement and Regulation of Trade and Commerce, Production, Supply and Distribution) Amendment Act, 2020 seeks to raise the minimum age for buying tobacco to 21. It also proposes that trade and commerce in cigarettes or other tobacco products only be made carried out through sealed, intact, and original packaging.

"If this draft becomes a law, the cigarette industry would face further headwinds: difficulty in adding newer consumers..., and impact on cigarette volumes due to sale of only sealed and intact packs," said Abneesh Roy, EVP, research, Edelweiss Securities. However, it would be hard to monitor and implement this law, Roy added. That's because the sale of loose cigarettes is still widely prevalent in states where this regulation has already come into effect. Tepid demand outlook has also been a key worry and shares of cigarette makers have been bleeding heavily with the likes of ITC Ltd, Godfrey Phillip and VST Industries Ltd trading in the red.

Top players have also gone into a huddle fearing a further hike in excise duties. ITC shares closed 0.89 per cent lower (₹211.5 a piece) on the BSE on Tuesday. But analysts say the long-term perspective remains positive. "We don't expect a tax hike in the budget, but this new draft, if implemented, can be an overhang," Roy added.

Exim Bank raises $1 bn through 10-yr dollar bond at record low coupon rate

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

EXPORT Import Bank (Exim Bank) of India on Tuesday raised $1 billion through an overseas bond sale offering just 2.25 per cent for the ten-year instrument, setting a new low in pricing. The issue was oversubscribed over 3.5 times. In Asia, in fact, the bonds were oversold within two hours from launch, according to Exim's managing director David Rasquinha.

"With the upsurge in GST numbers, improvement in GDP, and the recent approval of vaccines, the confidence in the India story is surging once again," said Rasquinha, adding that many other Indian issuers are likely to follow suit to access the foreign currency bond market.

In terms of geographic distribution, the bonds were distributed 55 per cent in Asia, 29 per cent in the US, and 16 per cent in the EMEA (Europe, the Middle East and Africa) region.

In terms of distribution, around 68 per cent went to fund managers, 17 per cent to sovereign wealth funds, central banks and insurance companies, 14 per cent to banks and 1 per cent to private banks and others, the financial institution said in a statement.

FCA to invest $250 mn, roll out four new models by 2022

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FIAT Chrysler Automobiles (FCA) on Tuesday committed an investment of over $250 million in India towards the production of four new Jeep SUV models.

The company's new local vehicle line-up includes the 2021 Made-in-India Jeep Compass, a locally produced three-row Jeep SUV, as well as the iconic Jeep Wrangler, and flagship Grand Cherokee, which will both be assembled at FCA's joint venture manufacturing facility in Ranjangaon (Maharashtra). The four new models will be on Indian roads by the end of 2022.

The 2021 Jeep Compass is set to be unveiled in India on January 7, 2021 and production has already commenced. The luxury seven-seat mid-size Jeep, codenamed H6, will be launched in 2022.

FCA India Managing Director Partha Datta said, "This investment is in addition to $450 million we have already committed to our Indian operations over the past five years. We are delighted to announce our exciting new products, coupled with our continued commitment to India in Jeep brands 80th anniversary year." American carmakers have long struggled to make a mark in India. Back in 2017, General Motors decided to exit the do market while Ford Motor had earlier announced the merger of its local operations with Mahindra & Mahindra but terminated it earlier this week. FCA's new products, however, are set to heat up competition in the segment.

This investment is in addition to the $450 million we have already committed over the past five years. We are delighted to announce our exciting new products —Partha Datta, MD, FCA India

Saina slams BWF over training rules

Saina Nehwal lashed out at Badminton World Federation for denying the athletes, among other things, access to trainers and physios ahead of the upcoming tournaments in Thailand. "The physios and trainers cannot meet us during the entire tour after all (al) of us have tested negative? @bwfmedia @bwf_ac. 4 weeks of this how is it possible to maintain ourselves...," she tweeted.

BOWLING RHYTHM AND BATSMEN BLUES

Bumrah & Co's disciplined performances have choked Oz batters, will be interesting to see how the hosts respond come Thursday

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

IN the immediate afterglow of a rousing, series-levelling win at Melbourne, 2.52 was mentioned in passing in a number of places. That's the run rate for Australia this series, their lowest at home since 1990. It's significant because it reflects the control the visitors have had on the Aussie batsmen.

The Indian bowlers haven't given the hosts anything wide off the off stump, they haven't overpitched nor have they fed it down the leg side. What they have done, instead, is bowled straight lines, set challenging, unorthodox fields. They have essentially asked the batsmen to manufacture shots where none really existed. End result? They have tried to survive, but one can only survive for so long when the pressure is on them.

Think of the Indian bowling unit as a boa constrictor and the Australian batting as prey. Death by cutting off the blood flow.

Even if India's bowling hasn't been a surprise — the pace attack at their disposal is one of the best in the world — what's surprising is the kind of control they have retained when compared to the last tour in 2018-19. The key to that series win was similar — cut off Australia's oxygen when bowling, build pressure from both ends and make merry. That the hosts only managed a scoring rate of 2.64 across four Tests then — their sixth worst at home since 1990 — was no coincidence.

The addition of Steve Smith and the emergence of Marnus Labuschagne was supposed to right that wrong. Instead, India seem to have perfected the art of discipline while bowling. It's why Ajinkya Rahane & Co won the second Test.

Discipline was also a word used by Australia's coach, Justin Langer, when talking about why the hosts have failed to impose themselves with the bat. "I think India, their greatest strength the last couple of series has been their discipline," he said during a Zoom press conference on Tuesday. "India have taken a straighter line to a couple of our batters, set the fields accordingly."

IND-AUS SERIES

India's Cheteshwar Pujara (R) & Ajinkya Rahane (C) during a training session at the SCG on Tuesday | AFP

He also reserved special praise for R Ashwin, who has reduced Steve Smith to a blubbery mess in the first two Tests. "Let's not discount Ravi Ashwin, how many wickets has he taken in Tests? 380 or something (375)... I think I'm pretty close, he has played a lot of cricket. The great bowlers are the ones who are hard to score against and (Jasprit) Bumrah is certainly up there at the moment. Ashwin's up there. We are aware of it (low run rate), we know how we like to play our cricket as Australians but credit to India. Very well planned, as you would expect."

What that one-sided battle between Ashwin and Smith has done is it has further exposed the brittle nature of their batting. Langer, however, mentioned that they have been ruminating on a plan. "We have to look at our strategies against the Indian spinners. Ashwin is bowling very well, obviously Bumrah is a world-class bowler and (Mohammed) Siraj coming in... I think he is a very skillful bowler. I thought he bowled very well. It's game on, good tough Test series."

Pucovski could debut

One of those plans could involve changing both openers while dropping Travis Head from the XI. While it looks like David Warner is certain to play, Will Pucovski, who has suffered a series of concussions in the last few years, could make his debut at the top, with Matthew Wade dropping into the middle order.

What Warner gives them at the top is essential because he allows them to breathe, a sort of antidote when the opponents try to cut off the blood supply. The 34-year-old's ability to steal runs thanks to the way he hustles between the wickets could be an unwelcome sight for India's bowling line-up that's successfully managed to pin batsmen at one end.

RAIN DISRUPTION LIKELY IN SYDNEY

The third Test in Sydney could see some stoppages thanks to bouts of rainfall. There is some rainfall prediction, including a stray thunderstorm, on Thursday, Friday and Sunday three of the first four days of the Test. There is rain forecast for Sydney on Wednesday. There is, infact, in a 'Severe Thunderstorm Warning' in place for Sydney according to the Australian Government Bureau of Meteorology. "Severe thunderstorms are likely to produce large hailstones and heavy rainfall that may lead to flash flooding... Locations which may be affected include Gosford, Sydney, Parramatta, Wollongong, Nowra and Bowral," a warning, applicable till Wednesday, said.

TALKING POINTS

India's combination: With Umesh Yadav out and Rohit Sharma set to play, there will at least be two changes to India's line-up. If whispers are any indication, Navdeep Saini would make his debut with Sharma coming in place of Mayank Agarwal or Hanuma Vihari. If they do decide to drop Agarwal, they have the option of slotting Vihari at the top.

Indian spinners: Even if Jasprit Bumrah has excelled, R Ashwin has been the man with the midas touch. He has put pressure with his line, drift and tight spells. That he has made life tough for Steve Smith has been an added bonus. With Ravindra Jadeja added to the mix at Melbourne, the spinners have more than held their end.

Kane slams double ton

New Zealand skipper Kane Williamson rewrote record books en route his double century (238) against Pakistan on Day 3 of second Test in Christchurch on Tuesday. The brilliant show has put the hosts in pole position to win the match and series. Here's a look at a few milestones set by the Test No. 1 batsman...

Kane Williamson | AFP

7000

Williamson became the third New Zealand player after Ross Taylor and Stephen Fleming to reach 7000-run mark. He took the fewest number of innings for a Kiwi to reach the mark.

1 Williamson (65.74) nhas the highest average in Tests in the last three years among batsmen who have scored over 1000 runs. Babar Azam (62.80) is second.

2 Since 2016, Williamson — with 11 centuries — is the only second skipper after India's Virat Kohli, who has 16 to his name, to return with more than 10 Test centuries.

4 This was Williamson's fourth double ton. Before Tuesday, Brendon McCullum was the only Kiwi to score four double Test centuries.

3 The captain put on a 369-run fourth-wicket stand with Henry Nicholls. The partnership was the third-highest for Kiwis for all wickets.

Brief scores: Pakistan 297 & 8/1 vs New Zealand (Overnight 286/3) 659/6decl (Williamson 238, Nicholls 157, Mitchell 102 n.o.).

SA COMPLETE SERIES WIN OVER SL

JOHANNESBURG: Dimuth Karunaratne's century (103) could not prevent South Africa from completing a 2-0 series win on the third day of the second Test against Sri Lanka at the Wanderers Stadium in Johannesburg on Tuesday. South Africa won by 10 wickets after Sri Lanka were bowled out for 211 in their second innings. Set to make 67 runs to win, the hosts sealed their victory half an hour after lunch.
Brief scores: SL 157 & 211 (Karunaratne 103; Ngidi 4/44) lost to SA 302 & 67/0.

BCCI wants IPL at home but keeps UAE option open

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

THE Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) isn't ruling out the possibility of hosting the next edition of the Indian Premier League (IPL) in the United Arab Emirates if the Covid-19 situation at home doesn't improve by March. But BCCI's priority is to host the event at home. The number of cities/venues, however, will be restricted to four.

The IPL's Governing Council, headed by Brijesh Patel, met virtually on Monday to chalk out a plan for this year's edition. Like the last edition, held from September 19 to November 10, the BCCI wants to create a bio-secure bubble and would like to restrict the number of venues to cut down operational costs. International cricket will resume in India next month with the arrival of England team for a full-fledged tour that includes four Tests, three T20Is and as many ODIs. But because of the Covid-19 situation, the BCCI has restricted the number of venues to three — Chennai, Ahmedabad and Pune.

Having pulled off a successful IPL in the UAE, the board feels the it can successfully conduct the IPL at home if the England series goes ahead without any hassle. "We have not decided on any venues as yet. We just had our first meeting. Dates for trading window and auction too will be decided soon," IPL Governing Council chairman Brijesh Patel said.

> We have not decided on any venues as yet. We just had our first meeting. Dates for trading window and auction too will be decided soon.
>
> Brijesh Patel, IPL Governing Council chairman

That the BCCI is ready to wait till March to decide on the venue isn't surprising as it already has a Memorandum of Understanding with the Emirates Cricket Board to host the next edition of the IPL. Having shifted last edition's tournament at a short notice, the BCCI believes going back to UAE will not be a problem.

What made the job easy in the UAE was the three venues. Abu Dhabi, Dubai and Sharjah were in close proximity and there was no air travel involved.

The BCCI wants to do the same in India. In that sense, Mumbai becomes a possible venue as it has three stadiums — Wankhede, Brabourne and DY Patil and even Pune isn't far off. The play-offs can always be moved to a different city. Even the franchises are keen to keep the tournament in India as it would help them cut down the expenses.

IWLF wants lifters' whereabouts

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

IN the wake of strict quota-reduction penalties introduced by the Commonwealth Games Federation for 2022 Birmingham, Indian Weightlifting Federation (IWLF) has asked its affiliated members to submit whereabouts of their respective lifters by January 11. Only those lifters, who submit their whereabouts in the said time frame, will be allowed to participate in the qualifying events for the 2022 Commonwealth Games (CWG).

"We have started receiving whereabouts. Once we receive them, the database will be handed over to the National Anti Doping Agency (NADA) which will help them to track these athletes and conduct tests. This is being done to ensure the lifters stay away from doping," Sahdev Yadav, IWLF secretary-general, told this daily.

As per the quota-reduction penalties, which have been introduced for the first time in the CWG, every doping violation during the qualifying period will be punished by the loss of one place. The maximum team size is 16, which is split equally between men and women. The new system also says nations could be barred outright if they have more than three violations during a year. The ranking period for qualification for the CWG began on January 1 and will continue until February 14, 2022.

> We have started receiving whereabouts. Once we receive them, the database will be handed over to the National Anti Doping Agency (NADA) which will help them to track these athletes and conduct tests.
>
> Sahdev Yadav, IWLF secretary-general

India won nine medals including five gold in Gold Coast in 2018. However, the worrying part is that India along with Malaysia has the worst doping record among Commonwealth countries.

As many as 31 state associations apart from Services Sports Control Board, Railway Sports Promotion Board, FCI Sports Promotion Board and All India Police Sports Control Board are affiliated units of the IWLF. All these units have been asked to send whereabouts of their lifters.

"By creating database and sharing with NADA, all the lifters can be tracked anytime. At the moment, there are only a few select lifters who are being monitored by either NADA or its parent body World Anti-doping Agency (WADA). But once this exercise is over, all the weightlifters can be monitored," said a source, who is tracking the developments.

According to the official IWLF website, a total of 1345 senior and 2042 youth and junior lifters are registered with it till date. Among them, only seven are in the registered testing pool of NADA.

"Once these lifters enter the system, they will be required to update their details on a regular basis thus ensuring constant monitoring. This will act as a deterrent and decrease the risk of them taking banned substances," added the source.

'Stable' Ganguly to leave hospital today

KOLKATA: BCCI chief and former India captain Sourav Ganguly, who underwent angioplasty following a mild heart attack, is now stable with no complaint of chest pain or breathing issues, noted cardiologist Dr Devi Shetty said on Tuesday. He will be discharged from hospital on Wednesday, he said. Ganguly was diagnosed with three blocked coronary arteries on Saturday, following which a stent was inserted in one to remove the blockage. Dr Shetty, who flew down to the city to check on Ganguly, said the 48-year-old is an "asset" to the nation, and the heart attack that he suffered did not cause any damage to his health.

Bengaluru slump to third straight defeat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

WHILE Mumbai City FC have laid down the marker yet again when it comes to the title race, the bigger question at the moment in the season is whether Bengaluru FC are in danger of not qualifying for the play-offs this season.

On Tuesday at the Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium in Fatorda, Mumbai beat Bengaluru 3-1 despite some refereeing decisions going against them and finishing with ten men. Mumbai were cruising 2-0 at half-time thanks to two early goals from Mourtada Fall (9') and Bipin Singh (15') but Bengaluru made a game out of it in the second half.

Sunil Chhetri scored a contentious penalty in the 79th minute but Mumbai substitute Bartholomew Ogbeche made sure that there were no hiccups as he scored in the 84th minute to seal all three points.

One downside from the performance for Sergio Lobera was the sending-off of midfielder Ahmed Jahouh who will not be part of the team in their crucial game against ATK Mohun Bagan on December 11.

THE VACCINE DOSING DEBATE

The first Americans vaccinated against Covid-19 are getting their second dose, while Britain has decided to postpone boosters and focus instead on giving more people a first shot. There's growing debate about whether to change vaccine dosing methods to stretch scarce supplies. Here are some questions and answers about vaccine dosing

> Making such changes that are not supported by adequate scientific evidence may ultimately be counter-productive to public health
>
> -Food and Drug Administration

What vaccines are available?

That differs by country. The US is allowing emergency use of two very similar vaccines, one made by Pfizer and Germany's BioNTech and the other made by Moderna. Britain is using the Pfizer shot and a different type of vaccine made by AstraZeneca that also has been cleared in India. The EU is rolling out the Pfizer shot. Each requires two doses for full protection, either three weeks or four weeks apart depending on the vaccine

Could I wait longer between doses?

Last week, British health officials decided it was OK to delay the second dose as long as 12 weeks. It was a huge surprise since none of the studies were designed to test such a gap between doses. British officials said postponing booster doses meant they could give more people at least some protection with a first shot. The big question is how long partial protection from just one dose can last

Could supply be stretched by using smaller doses?

That speculation arose when Dr Moncef Slaoui, who advises the US vaccine program Operation Warp Speed, said there's some data showing two half-doses of the Moderna vaccine might work. Slaoui said it shows a lower dose sparked a good immune reaction in people ages 18-55. Presumably Slaoui was referring to early-stage studies in very small numbers of people that explored which dose to put to a real test. Again, the FDA late Monday dismissed that dose-stretching idea

Would these speed vaccinations?

It's far from clear that stretching doses will get them into people's arms any faster at this point. In the US, initial supplies haven't been used nearly as fast as experts had hoped. Officials expect that to pick up with the holidays over and health workers getting more experience handling the shots

Can the second dose be a different vaccine than the first?

Don't mix and match, says the FDA. There's no data showing if vaccines can be interchanged. In fact, that's why the US government is holding millions of vaccine doses in reserve, until it's clear that getting more supplies in time for everyone's booster isn't a problem. Recipients get a card with information about which vaccine they received and when to return for the second dose

Interesting Indonesia strategy

Southeast Asian country prioritises to vaccinate working population first before the elderly

HEALTH

BANGKOK: Several countries such as the United States and Britain that have already begun vaccinations are giving priority to elderly people who are more vulnerable to the respiratory disease. Interestingly, Indonesia is taking a different approach.

As the Asian country prepares to begin mass inoculations against Covid-19, its plan to prioritise working age adults over the elderly, aiming to reach herd immunity fast and revive the economy, will be closely watched by other countries. The following are experts' views on merits and risks of the Indonesian approach, under which working age adults will be vaccinated after frontline health workers and public servants.

Why 18-59 year-olds first?

Indonesia will be using the vaccine developed by China's Sinovac Biotech. It says the country does not have enough data yet of the vaccine's efficacy on elderly people, as trials underway in the country involves people aged 18-59.

"We're not bucking the trend," Siti Nadia Tarmizi, a health ministry official told Reuters. He added that authorities would await recommendations from the country's drug regulators to decide on vaccination plans for the elderly.

While Britain and the United States began immunisations with a shot developed by Pfizer Inc and its partner BioNTech that showed it works well in people of all ages, Indonesia has initial access only to the Sinovac vaccine.

Indonesia has a deal to receive 125.5 million doses of Sinovac's CoronaVac shot, and a first batch of 3 million doses are already in the country. Shipments of the Pfizer vaccine to the country are expected to begin from the third quarter, while a vaccine developed by AstraZeneca and Oxford University will start being distributed in the second quarter.

> Younger working adults are generally more active, more social and travel more so this strategy should decrease community transmission faster than vaccinating older individuals
>
> Professor Dale Fisher, NUS

"I don't think anybody can get too dogmatic about what is the right approach," said Peter Collignon, professor of infectious diseases at Australian National University, adding that Indonesia's strategy could slow the spread of the disease, although it may not affect mortality rates.

"Indonesia doing it different to the US and Europe is of value, because it will tell us if you'll see a more dramatic effect in Indonesia than Europe or US because of the strategy they're doing, but I don't think anybody knows the answer."

Achieving herd immunity

By vaccinating more socially mobile and economically active groups first, Indonesian government officials hope the government can quickly reach herd immunity.

Budi Gunadi Sadikin, Indonesia's health minister, said the country needs to vaccinate 181.5 million people, or roughly 67 per cent of its population, to reach herd immunity, and requires almost 427 million doses of vaccines, assuming a double-dose regimen and a 15 per cent wastage rate. Some experts are skeptical about reaching herd immunity.

Will it help recovery?

Economists have argued a successful vaccination programme covering around 100 million people will help jumpstart the economy. Faisal Rachman, an economist with Bank Mandiri, said that the 18-59 age group has consumption needs that are higher than other groups.

BIONTECH WARNS AGAINST DELAYING SECOND DOSE

MEDICINE

FRANKFURT AM MAIN: German firm BioNTech warned Tuesday there is no data backing the "safety and efficacy" of delaying the second shot of its Covid-19 vaccine beyond three weeks, as some countries push back the jab to give more people their first dose. BioNTech, which developed the vaccine with US giant Pfizer, said its clinical data showing 95 percent efficacy was based on a two-dose schedule separated by 21 days.

"The safety and efficacy of the vaccine has not been evaluated on different dosing schedules," it said. "Although data... demonstrated that there is a partial protection from the vaccine as early as 12 days after the first dose, there is no data to demonstrate that protection after the first dose is sustained after 21 days."

Faced with limited supplies of the vaccines, Denmark said Monday it would space out the jabs by up to six weeks, while Britain has said it would wait up to 12 weeks before giving the second jab.

FACT OF THE MATTER

Cluster brings new measures

HEALTH

China has designated parts of Hebei province near Beijing as a coronavirus high danger zone after 14 new cases of Covid-19 were found. Eleven of those cases were in Shijiazuang city An additional 30 people tested positive for the virus without showing any symptoms. The other three cases were in the city of Yantai. Parts of Shijiazhuang were designated high danger areas, meaning they will undergo stricter testing and isolation measures, while parts of Yantai were registered as medium risk areas. The latest cases bring Hebei's number of active cases to 19 and medical investigators were looking into whether a single event such as a family gathering had been the origin of many of the cases.

Warming baked in

ENVIRONMENT

The amount of baked-in global warming, from carbon pollution already in the air, is enough to blow past international agreed upon goals to limit climate change, a new study finds. While that amount of warming may be inevitable, it can be delayed for centuries if the world quickly stops emitting extra greenhouse gases, the study's authors say. Monday's study in the Nature Climate Change says the carbon pollution already put in the air will push global temperatures to about 2.3 degrees Celsius of warming since pre-industrial times. Previous estimates were about a degree Celsius less than that amount of committed warming.

US asked to make release of raw green data mandatory

ENVIRONMENT

WASHINGTON: The Environmental Protection Agency has completed one of its last major rollbacks under the Trump administration, changing how it considers evidence of harm from pollutants in a way that opponents say could cripple future public-health regulation.

EPA administrator Andrew Wheeler is expected to announce completion of what he calls the 'Strengthening Transparency in Regulatory Science' rule in an appearance before a conservative think tank soon.

The EPA completed the final rule last week, but so far has declined to make it public. The new rule would require the release of raw data from public-health studies whose findings the EPA uses in determining the danger of an air pollutant, toxic chemical or other threat.

Big public-health studies that studied the anonymised results of countless people have been instrumental in setting limits on toxic substances, including in some of the nation's most important clean-air protections.

Some industry and conservative groups have long pushed for what they called the transparency rule. Opponents say the aim was to handicap future regulation. In an opinion piece in The Wall Street Journal on Monday, Wheeler said the change was in the interest of transparency.

"If the American people are to be regulated by interpretation of these scientific studies, they deserve to scrutinize the data as part of the scientific process and American self-government," Wheeler wrote.

But critics say the new rule could force disclosure of the identities and details of individuals in public-health studies, jeopardising medical confidentiality and future studies. Academics, scientists, universities, public health and medical officials, environmental groups have spoken out and written to oppose the change.

60k more babies in India on New Year's day

DEMOGRAPHY

UNITED NATIONS: More than 371,500 babies were born worldwide on New Year's Day and India is estimated to have recorded the highest number of births at around 60,000, according to the UN's children's agency. UNICEF said that an estimated 371,504 babies were born around the world on New Year's Day. Fiji in the Pacific was projected to have welcomed 2021's first baby while the United States would welcome its last.

Globally, over half of these births are estimated to have taken place in 10 countries: India (59,995), China (35,615), Nigeria (21,439), Pakistan (14,161), Indonesia (12,336), Ethiopia (12,006), the United States (10,312), Egypt (9,455), Bangladesh (9,236) and the Democratic Republic of the Congo (8,640), it said.

In total, an estimated 140 million children will be born in 2021 and their average life expectancy is expected to be 84 years, the UN agency said.

Firm extracts water from air

CONSERVATION

The densely populated Gaza Strip has long lacked sufficient drinking water, but a new project helps ease the shortage with a solar-powered process to extract potable water straight from the air. The company he heads, Watergen, has developed the atmospheric water generators that can produce 5,000 to 6,000 litres of drinking water per day, depending on the air's humidity. With just a few machines operating in Gaza, Watergen is far from meeting demand for the two million people who live in the crowded coastal enclave wedged between Israel, Egypt and the Mediterranean Sea. "But, it's a start," said Fathi Sheikh Khalil, an engineer with the Palestinian civil society group Damour, which operates one of the machines because Israeli firms cannot work in Gaza. The strip has also been facing a worsening water crisis for years.

TIME FLIES

Earth spinning faster than at any time in the past 50 years

SPACE

LONDON: Time is passing quicker now than at any point in the last half century, a new official data reveals. Earth's rotation is faster than normal and, as a result, the length of a day is currently ever-so-slightly shorter than the regulation 24 hours. The world's timekeepers are now debating whether to delete a second from time to account for the change, and bring the precise passing of time back into line with the the rotation of the Earth.

While the addition of a so-called 'negative leap second' has never been done before, a total of 27 'leap seconds' have been added since the 1970s, in order to keep atomic time in line with solar time, reports The Daily Mail.

This is because, for decades, the Earth has taken slightly longer than 24 hours to complete a rotation, but since the last year it has been taking taking slightly less.

Since the 1960s, atomic clocks have been keeping ultra-precise records of day length and found that, for the past 50 years, Earth has taken a fraction less than 24 hours to complete one rotation. However, in the middle of 2020, this long-standing trend was reversed and days are now regularly shorter than 86,400 seconds.

On 19 July 2020, the day was 1.4602 milliseconds shorter than the full 24 hours — the shortest day since records began. Prior to 2020, the shortest day occurred in 2005, but this record has been shattered a staggering 28 times in the last 12 months.

On average, the days are now passing 0.5 seconds shy of 24 full hours. This diminutive loss of time is only detectable at the atomic level but has wide-reaching implications.

On 19 July 2020, the day was 1.4602 milliseconds shorter than the 24 hours

Satellites and communications equipment rely on the true time aligning with solar time, which is determined by the positions of the stars, moon and the sun.

> It is certainly correct that the Earth is spinning faster now than at any time in the last 50 years. It's quite possible that a negative leap second will be needed if the Earth's rotation rate increases further, but it's too early to say if this is likely to happen
>
> Peter Whibberley, research scientist with NPL's time and frequency group

In order to keep this harmonious relationship intact, timekeepers at the Paris-based International Earth Rotation Service have previously added so-called 'leap seconds' to a day.

This has happened 27 times since the 1970s, with the last one on New Year's Eve 2016. However, as Earth has been consistently slowing and not accelerating its spin, there has never before been a need to add a negative leap second.

Now, there is a debate over whether one may be needed to rectify the growing disparity.

"It is certainly correct that the Earth is spinning faster now than at any time in the last 50 years," Peter Whibberley, senior research scientist with National Physical Laboratory's time and frequency group, told The Telegraph. "It's quite possible that a negative leap second will be needed if the Earth's rotation rate increases further, but it's too early to say if this is likely to happen.

"There are also international discussions taking place about the future of leap seconds, and it's also possible that the need for a negative leap second might push the decision towards ending leap seconds for good."

Back in action

With the New Year comes some good news for theatre lovers, as performance spaces gear up to open their doors,with a lineup of different plays

THE New Year is upon us with a renewed hope for normalcy, and after a year of struggle for artistes, theatre spaces in the city are opening their doors again, with safety guidelines in place. For instance, Jagriti Theatre, which staged its last physical play in March last year, will now welcome the audiences on Jan. 10. The month also marks the space completing 10 years of existence. "It's a great gift for us to be back in action after surviving the lockdown. Bookings for events – plays, music, comedy and dance – are all open now, and things will be back in full swing," says Rebecca Spurgeon, artistic director of the theatre.

Jagriti Theatre is not the only space making a fresh start this month. Ranga Shankara, which previously started conducting events in its foyer, is opening the doors of its auditorium again on Jan. 8, albeit to 50 per cent capacity to adhere to Covid-19 guidelines. The venue will resume its 'Show a day' concept on week days and two shows a day on weekends. Founder Arundhati Nag says, "Come back, people! Come and fill our Karmabhoomi, our holy space, our work space, our healing space with your presence and we will shower you with our art!" The space has also supported a few city troupes to produce new plays that will premiere this month. Also scheduled for this month are are Sanket's play, Iti Ninna Amrita, directed by MS Sathyu, featuring Arundhati Nag and Srinivasa Prabhu. Naseeruddding Shah's Motley will come back with Ismat Apa ke Naam.

Alliance Française de Bangalore is also welcoming 2021 with open arms and doors, and it staged its first play since the start of the pandemic on Jan. 2. They have introduced new service charges for the auditorium along with seven new spaces within the premises for various activities. "Earlier, there was a flat rate for the auditorium. But our committee members have decided to give a discount to classical dance, music, theatre and literary activities. The rates are further classified for weekdays and weekends. The city is reopening again and this is our way of helping the culture scene," says president Zafer Mohiuddin.

Each theatre venue has chalked out plays of different genres to open with. While Alliance Française, in association with Theatre for Change, held a performance that paid a tribute to playwright Safdar Hashmi, Ranga Shankara is choosing to stage Karimayi, which is one of Kannada theatre's longest-running plays. It has been directed by veteran artiste B Jayashree. The play is a musical with compositions by Dr Chandrashekhar Kambara, with live original music and singing led by Jayashree. The play will begin at 7:30pm on Jan. 8, with tickets available on bookmyshow.com and at the space's box office.

Jagriti Theatre, on the other hand, is presenting Not Just a Half, a collection of anecdotes on the various universal experiences that women face. It features Bhavana Rajendran, Kavya Srinivas and Urvashi Govardhan. "The performance has a message of support and it felt apt to make our comeback with this," says Spurgeon. The show will be staged on Jan. 10, 3pm. Tickets available on bookmyshow.com

Setting the stage for local artistes

With 15 plays by different artistes' groups, this festival aims to encourage participation of youngsters in theatre

MONIKA MONALISA

After a year that saw a lull period in the theatre world, artistes are making sure they don't waste any time to make up for the lost shows of last year. The ongoing theatre festival called Yuvaranga Natakotsava is showcasing plays by 15 theatre groups, including Drushyakavya, Khaliranga, Thema, Ranga Bhaskara , and Saviranga. The aim of the festival is to revive theatre activities and get audience back to performing arts and also to encourage young theatre practitioners.

Rajguru Hoskote, one of the organisers of the festival, says the event is just an idea to give space to theatre artistes who have been looking forward to performing on stage. "The Covid situation has left many theatre artistes frustrated. We still don't see the end of the pandemic, and artistes can't sit idle forever. So, for this 15-day festival, we are having 15 plays by 15 theatre groups," says Hoskote, adding that the festival will also have other cultural programmes like folk music and dance, along with discussions about theatre.

While many plays are happening online, theatre artistes like Sushma SV say it's the performance on stage that they are craving. "The digital space was a huge boon for people, but many local artistes and technicians have suffered a lot financially," says Sushma, who is a part of Thema Theatre Company. She adds, "Some theatre spaces ask artistes to show Covid-19 test results but that is also an additional expense when they are struggling financially." The organisers are planning to distribute the money collected from the festival to artistes.

The festival is happening at Samsa Bayalu Ranga Mandira till Jan 18. Tickets are available at the venue.

Waste to wonder

Five women from FICCI Flo have come together to create a mural made completely from trash

S LALITHA

AN art piece showcasing the traditional dance drama Yakshagana adorns a wall of the Kempegowda Airport Halt Station, that opened on Monday. The mural depicting mudras and dance movements, has been created completely out of waste material. This creation is the joint effort of five members of the women's wing of the Federation of Indian Chamber of Commerce and Industry, popularly referred to as FICCI Flo. Arti Modi, Kalpa Shah, Amrisha Jhunjhanwala, Preeti Dadu and Sharada Ramanj are its creators.

Speaking to City Express, chairperson of the organisation, Jyotika Kapoor, says, "I have been passionate about creating art using waste material. Flo has done seven such pieces so far, with two of them done only for airport operator Bangalore International Airport Limited (BIAL). One mural also adorns Terminal 3 of Delhi airport," she says.

Jyotika Kapoor, chairperson, FICCI Flo

The piece at the halt station was done during the lockdown period in June-July by the women individually in their homes and later integrated together at Modi's place. "Things like old windows, broken tiles and other construction material were used to create them," she adds. A board at the spot says wooden mango crates played a vital role in creating it. "The colour scheme and the cement that binds the colourful mosaic tiles highlight the beautiful shades of Mother Earth," it reads.

Explaining how it came about, she adds, "I wrote to BIAL CEO Hari Marar about the concept of murals through waste material. He and his team were completely taken up by the idea and wanted to showcase them. One piece made its appearance in front of the Bengaluru airport three months ago as a butterfly mural and this is the second one."

Small steps, big change

EXPRESS FEATURES

Sustainability is a word that has crept into daily conversations. Sustainable life, sustainable workplace, sustainable fashion... the list goes on. While the word is idealistic, many still struggle to make it a reality. Sahar Mansoor, a zero-waste living advocate and founder of Bare Necessities, has launched a month-long online programme, Sustainability in 30, that takes people through the journey of understanding the importance of sustainability and the interconnection between people, the planet and profit.

With climate change and a global garbage crisis being at its peak, Mehul Manjeshwar, chief marketing officer of Bare Necessities, who is spearheading the project, says it is important for us understand the larger picture. "We are trying to make people understand the meaning of sustainability, and where you can implement it, whether it's the environment or the workplace. The self-paced course talks about a variety of fields, from renewable energy to waste management to the importance of equality," explains Manjeshwar. The programme will comprise video modules and workshops by experts.

Apart from this, they also offer another programme called 'Zero waste in 30', which aims to help people make a conscious decision towards leading a zero-waste lifestyle. "It's about making small changes in life. For example, have you ever thought about the number of plastic straws you'd be diverting in a week or a month if you simply used a stainless steel straw? This course helps break down what low-waste living can look like."

FIT BIT

EKA PADA PRANAMASANA

(ONE-LEGGED SALUTATION POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'eka' means 'one', 'pada' means 'foot', 'pranama' means 'prayer', and 'asana' means 'pose'. It is a combination of Pranamasana (Prayer pose) and Vrksasana (Tree pose). In addition to improving balance, posture and leg strength, it improves focus and awareness. It also promotes self-confidence and willpower, calms the mind, and develops mental and spiritual balance. It is often practised as a resting pose and at the end of an asana series. It opens the Anahata (heart) chakra, which is associated with love, forgiveness, compassion, openness and empathy.

STEPS

- Stand straight on the floor. Relax your legs, keep it together; hands on the sides. Make sure your body weight is evenly distributed on both feet.
- Now, breathe normally and look straight ahead.
- Then, slowly transfer the weight onto the left leg and lift up your right leg. Keep the sole of your right foot on the upper inner area of your left thigh.
- Maintain balance on the left leg and breathe normally.
- When the body is balanced, bring your both palms together in front of the chest in the prayer pose or Pranam Mudra.
- In the final position, focus the gaze on a fixed point in front of the body or close your eyes. Breathe normally.
- Maintain the final position for as long as you are comfortable.
- To release the pose, put down your right leg on the floor, rest for a while.
- Repeat the same process with your opposite leg too.

BENEFITS

- Gives a sense of control of the body movement.
- Helps bring a sense of equilibrium as the entire weight is supported on one leg.
- Improves body posture as well as flexibility.
- People having negative emotions such as anger, sadness, anxiety, can see a change.
- Strengthens the muscles of the leg, foot, toes and ankle.
- Improves focus and awareness.
- Beneficial for those suffering from respiratory problems like asthma.
- Improves balance and concentration.
- Improves blood circulation to the brain because your head position is going against the gravity and eyes focus on a fixed point.
- Improves the function of the liver and kidney.

LIMITATIONS

- People suffering from high or low BP and those who have recently injured their leg, ankle or foot, must avoid this.
- Best time for practising this is early in the morning. Can be practised in the evening also, but a 3-5 hour gap is a must.

Author: Amish and Bhavna Roy

The answers lie in these simple and wise interpretations of our favourite stories by a lovable cast of fictional characters who you'll enjoy getting to know.

JOURNEY TO FREEDOM

EXPRESS FEATURES

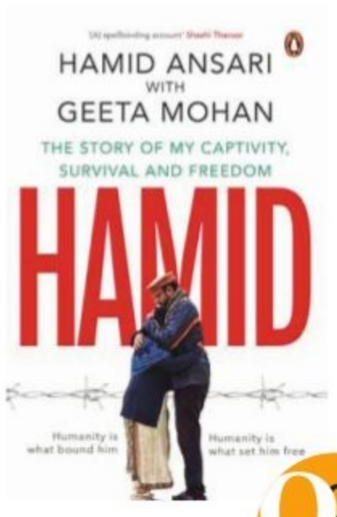
It was in November 2012 that Hamid Ansari, a 27-year-old Mumbai-based techie, disappeared. He was later found in a Pakistani jail. Ansari has recounted his experiences in the book, Hamid (Penguin RandomHouse, ₹399), co-authored with him by Geeta Mohan. Excerpts from an interview:

While in Pakistan, did you have any hope that you could return home some day?

When I was arrested in Pakistan, I thought this was my end, and I would never go back home. The Pakistani authorities even told me that I would have to serve 35 years or may even get death penalty as a punishment. Their torture was not just physical but emotional and mental too. They tried everything to break me down. Continuous prayers, thoughts of self-motivation helped me. Every night, I used dream that I was going home.

Why did you travel to Pakistan instead of taking help from officials?

It was immaturity on my part. My so-called friends in Pakistan instigated me to travel there, and then betrayed me for their stake. I can say it was a trap. My friend was genuinely in trouble and had sought my help. However, others harnessed this situation to create a honey trap for me, misguided me, and provoked me on grounds of nationality, which I could not calculate at that time. The region where the problem had taken place is a tribal area near the Pak-Afghan border. It hardly has any law and order, and therefore any official is helpless.



Q&A

Did you get a chance to meet the girl for whom you took this risk?

She was a close friend of mine who had landed in a big problem. I decided to help her on humanitarian grounds with the help of common friends in Pakistan. I was arrested even before I could meet her. But later on, through my lawyers I learnt that she was safe and happily married. In all the six years, I never got chance to contact her through any means.

Tell us about the people in Pakistan who supported you.

I never met the journalist Zeenat Shehzadi who investigated my case. But after my return, my family told me the help she extended to my case for which she even paid a heavy price. She went missing for over two years. She was the one who found out that I was arrested in Pakistan. My lawyer, Qazi Muhammad Anwar, was the best I could get. His student and human rights activist, Rukhshanda Naz, was a motherly figure for me.

How did you feel upon returning to India?

On Dec. 18, 2018, early morning, I was told that I will be released now, but many inmates had narrated stories of other prisoners convicted in similar cases being abducted by the intelligence agencies of Pakistan again. So I was not sure. When I reached the border, I saw the Indian flag and my parents standing on the other side of the gate. I was happy to have finally made home, sad for the losses that happened, and super excited to rush to my mother.

How was your experience in Pakistan custody?

The worst was when I was in the underground dungeons in solitary confinement for over three years. I was allowed to visit the washroom for 90 seconds every 24 hours. I got lice and worms all over my body. Life in the central prison of Peshawar and Mardan came with its own experiences. Many civilian inmates saw me as an individual from a distant land and were warm towards me. However, some them were aggressive and hated me for my nationality. I was not given any rights as a prisoner but it was the case with everyone.

As online frauds become more common, what's your advice to people looking for potential partners on matrimony sites?

You should crosscheck everything you see online these days.

When I was arrested in Pakistan, I thought this was my end, and I would never go back home and see my family ever again. The Pakistani authorities told me that I would have to serve 35 years or may even get death penalty

TURNING PAGES

Ceaseless talk, advice and women

When Parveen returned from her in-laws', Hasan was bolting around like a mad man. 'I will bite his throat, that bastard,' he swore at his brother-in-law. It was left to Parveen to pacify him, 'Leave it bhai, he is a useless fellow.' Gradually, Parveen became extremely irritated by the rules and regulations that she found she had to subscribe to in Hasan's house. She was seized by anxiety: how would she and her mother spend the rest of their days living with a man who constantly preached the hadith and ibaddat?

She longed to seal her ears with wax just so she didn't have to listen to his ceaseless talk. Her childhood home had become at once a mosque and a prison. Advice, advice, unceasing advice to women. the steps one must follow to live a good life, to reach heaven – women were subject to all of it. Compared to Hasan's home, Parveen felt that even her covetous husband's house was a better place! When had Hasan adopted this persona? She grew tired of thinking this through - had it all been a Saudi influence?

When she received the polyester saris and the black burqas just like her mother and Mehar, perhaps she should have considered her future more seriously. She was afraid of developing a great hatred towards her brother and her religion because of his constant preaching. After all, she said her prayers five times a day and read the Quran; but the unyielding and antiquated rules her brother insisted upon were entirely unacceptable to her.

Here, Parveen. Allah will grant you great rewards in the afterlife. Forget what is going on in this one. It is nothing. Pray, observe your fasts, increase your ibaddat, do not watch TV, relinquish the vulgarities of life, search for the path to heaven: what do you say to this?

She thought of Mehar and felt great pity for her. How had she put up with him? She realized that his actions and utterances were mixed with the arrogance that comes from being a man. Resolute in her decision not to spend the rest of her life at his mercy she had told her mother, 'I cannot bear to stay in this house any longer - I feel suffocated!' Subaida looked at her daughter, a worried expression on her face. 'Where will you go?' 'I will stay with Nanni. She only lives on the next street.' Subaida could not prevent her. She could not understand the extent to which life in the house was oppressive. When Parveen saw her mother was agitated, she brushed it aside as a sign of the older woman's rigidity. Her great-aunt Amina had no children, so Parveen moved in with her. Parveen felt unable to attend any village ceremonies or festivities. The women's sympathetic looks made her life hell. She was offended.

At least the home of her great-aunt felt like a refuge she could claim, and it lacked such tensions. Often, she would wonder how Mehar and Sajida would escape the tyranny of Hasan in the coming days. She thought of their parallel lives time and again.

BOOK ON PRANAB MUKHERJEE'S LIFE RELEASED

Rupa Publications India released The Presidential Years: 2012–2017 by late president Pranab Mukherjee on Tuesday. It offers an account of how one of the country's most respected veteran politicians reshaped the functioning of Rashtrapati Bhavan and responded to tumultuous events as the country's first citizen. Mukherjee became the president of India after having spent decades in politics, and there was great speculation over how he would approach his new bipartisan role after having been associated with a political party for so many years of his life. He worked with two prime ministers, belonging to two parties who were (and are) fiercely opposed to each other.

New Year revolutions

URBAN BOURBON
Hriday Ranjan
Writer, comedian

Growing up in a small town, my memory of New Year is of greeting cards. Handmade (or purchased from the nearby stall) cards, and postcards with film-stars would arrive from distant cousins, wishing us a merry X'mas and a happy New Year.

Somewhere down the line, new years descended into chaos and debauchery. For many years, I believed that New Years brought out the worst side of human beings – men and women barely conscious, scrounging for free booze. Cheap bars, unlimited drinks, existential DJs and drunken fights, till it all began to feel revolting. Thankfully, the pandemic changed all that.

For the first time in decades, a New Year's eve was celebrated in a subdued manner. There were no eardrum-shattering DJs, no fireworks to celebrate the grand occasion of the earth completing another circle around the sun, and our souls and wallets felt full and warm. Just us, our existential dread, and New Year's resolutions.

Google informs me that New Year's resolutions have been a common practice since the 17th century, when people would note down in journals the different ways they'd better themselves. In a way, this thought is in line with human nature itself. The leitmotif behind religion and spirituality is to be the best version of oneself. The essence of self-help books is to improve oneself. New Year's resolutions give us the underlying belief that it is possible to change for the better.

A little more research informed me that the most common resolutions around the world are fitness-related – losing weight and exercising more. I also learnt that only 8 per cent of people around the world are able to live up to their resolutions. While I do not unnecessarily burden myself with weight-related resolutions, my life can be divided into three distinct resolution categories. In childhood, my resolutions revolved around a fear of god. I resolved to pray to god more; to be a better human being.

Resolutions in my 20s revolved around getting into a good MBA college. Without the foresight that I'd become a journalist and stand-up comedian, I resolved to work harder and escape into the seemingly exciting world of MBAs. Dreams are great when you see them, but the reality was that I had barely scraped through my Class-10 mathematics. I sat in front of the coaching manuals, my mind experiencing a cruel deja vu from board exam preparations. Which is when a friend told me about the concept of lucid dreaming. This path-breaking meditation method involved visualising what one wanted. Since I wasn't making any breakthroughs in mathematics, I decided to lucid-dream about getting into an MBA college. For the next few years, I'd begin the New Year with coaching manuals, and quickly slip into my fantasies of MBA colleges. Needless to say, I wouldn't recommend this method to impressionable youngsters reading this column.

Over the last few years, I have flirted with resolutions around personal growth. Holistic living, productivity, and work-life balance were the new-age terms I was going for. With fitness-related goals, one can actually quantify one's progress. But with self-improvement goals, there are no barometers. The days of January and early-February are often spent in self-scrutiny. But the pandemic changed all that.

The year 2020 taught us that New Year's resolutions could be a luxury in times when life seems like a 'going concern'. Maybe this year, Dear Reader, is a fantastic opportunity to let go of the burden of resolutions and stop-gap remedies. Of course, if you nurture resolutions (MBA-related or otherwise), you have my best wishes. But if you're the sort who doesn't wish to have any resolutions at all, you have my unending support. I wish you a happy, vaccine-filled New Year!

VASISHTA SIMHA WELL ON HIS WAY TO MARK A PAN-INDIA PRESENCE

Vasishta Simha

The actor will be a part of Daggupati Venkatesh-starrer Naarappa, directed by Srikanth Addala, in which he will be seen in a negative role

A SHARADHAA

VASISHTA N Simha welcomed 2021 in a unique way, making it special for himself by adopting a lion cub on Jan. 1. He has named the cub, housed at Bannerghatta Biological Park, after his father, Vijay Narasimha. I wanted to welcome 2021 differently, and I am happy to have a new member in the family, whom I cannot always have next to me, but I am glad to take responsibility of," says Vasishta.

The actor-singer, who initially established himself as a villain in Kannada films, later turned hero with Nagathihalli Chandrashekar's India v/s England. He will now be joining the group of Kannada actors who have been dabbling in multiple film industries. Vasishta is spreading his wings to Telugu and Tamil films as well this year.

He is making his mark in Telugu film industry in a big way. He has already completed shooting for two projects, and has now signed his third one. He will be a part of Daggupati Venkatesh-starrer Naarappa, directed by Srikanth Addala, in which he will be seen in a negative role. The film is a remake of the Tamil film, Asuran. It will also feature Priyamani as the female lead.

Ahead of the shooting, which begins on Wednesday, Vasishta tells CE that 2020 gave him a lot of opportunities, and the result of the foundation he laid last year will be seen over the next two years. "Post lockdown, I have completed shooting for two Telugu films - Odela Railway Station and yet-to-be-titled project, which has me playing the lead. Naarappa will be my third," he says.

Vasishta will also be making his debut in Tamil cinema, and he plans to begin the project in the second half of this year. "For my Tamil debut, I will be teaming up with Dhushanth. He has previously assisted Kathir of Kadal Desam fame, and this will be his first independent venture. We have finalised the script, and currently, the pre-production work is going on. I will begin shooting once I complete the Telugu film, followed by my two pending Kannada movies that are on the floors," he says.

Talking about how the trend of an actor marking their presence in more than one industry is rising, Vasishta says, "I feel that the result of pan-India films is always unpredictable. Instead, I believe that it is better for the artiste to make a pan-India presence. With a chance to work in different languages, the actor gets to connects with people from all regions," he says, adding, "My entry to film industries in other languages has been accidental, and at the same time exceptional, because I was offered roles based on my previous work. Though it was unexpected, I am glad the approach made by them was based on my talent."
